Browne Is Back With Payments

Charges Dropped On Show Operator

A grand larceny charge, lodged Wednesday against Willard Browne, official who staged the Ulster County Exposition on Hurley Avenue Extension, was withdrawn this morning before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Riley when Browne paid the money due.

In three other instances where claims were made that payment on checks had been stopped, no action was taken when the complainants were notified of the facts and were paid in full by Browne.

A warrant charging grand larceny was issued Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Riley charging that Browne had stopped payment on a check for more than $300 given in payment for merchandise purchased from the Kingston Candy Company. The complaint was made by David Navy, a candy company official.

Sought Credit

Before Justice Riley at Lake Katrine, Browne said he had stopped payment on the checks because a portion of the merchandise had been returned and he sought credit for the returned purchases, alleged to amount to approximately $160. Browne was represented by Attorney R. Lewis Townsend of Poughkeepsie.

When it was established that Browne had no intention of defrauding the candy company, and with consent of the district attorney's office, the complaint was withdrawn. The balance due was paid in full.

Browne had been apprehended under the warrant by Investigator Joseph Ventriglia and Trooper Joseph Wachtel of the Lake Katrine state police sub-station.

Justice Riley said that a charge lodged Wednesday against David Browne, son of Willard Browne, for non-payment of wages was withdrawn when payment in full was made. That charge was based on violation of the Labor Law.

Three other Kingston persons, who charged payment on two checks given in payment for merchandise, had been stopped by Browne, did not prosecute their claims today when they learned of the situation. They had also been involved in the return of merchandise and credits. An adjustment was made in each instance, and the used merchandise paid for.

Kingston Police received a complaint at 3 a. m. today from a Kingston hotel saying that two persons, believed to have been connected with the exposition, had left without paying for lodging and telephone calls.

Meanwhile concessions have been removed from the exposition grounds on Hurley Avenue and the show is ended.

SPEAKS FOR STEEL EXECUTIVES—Thomas E. Patton, right, president of the Republic Steel Corp., sits with one of the company's attorneys, Bruce Brownley, before testifying at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing in Washington. Patton was the spokesman for the executives of four steel companies who balked at submitting subpoenaed production-cost data to Senate investigators. The companies and their officials, he said, had no intent to defy the Senate or the Antitrust subcommittee, which recommended they be cited for contempt of Congress. (AP Wirephoto)

Griffin Comeback Derailed

Sanders Scores Upset Win as Ga. Governor

ATLANTA (AP)— Carl E. Sanders, a bold young man who entered the race last April while veteran politicians scoffed, has won the governorship of Georgia by derailing the comeback drive of an old political warhorse, former Gov. Marvin Griffin.

Hails Own Victory

The 37-year-old state senator, making his first bid on a statewide basis, called it a great victory not for himself but for the people of Georgia.

Sanders had 360,095 votes and Griffin 208,507 in returns from 1,213 of the 1,826 precincts in Wednesday's Democratic primary.

Three other candidates drew a smattering of votes.

This was the first popular vote primary in Georgia in 54 years. Federal courts earlier this year knocked down the state's county unit system, which concentrated political power in rural areas.

Griffin, 55, who campaigned on the racial issue with promises to stem the tide of integration, issued no statement of concession.

Nomination means election as the Republicans have no candidate.

A. Edward Smith, nominated by the Republicans, was killed in an automobile accident in June and the GOP said no successor would be named.

Sanders too is a segregationist, but throughout the campaign he said he would never permit turmoil and disorders — taking a stand similar to that of Gov. Ernest Vandiver. The governor, ineligible to succeed himself, has has charged that inflammatory statements made by some during the campaign were the cause of Negro church burnings and other recent racial incidents.

Had KKK Blessing

Griffin—who has served as adjutant general, lieutenant governor and governor—had the support of most of the state's oldtime politicians. The Ku Klux Klan gave him its blessing.

The primary returned U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge and Rep. Carl Vinson to Congress. They were easy winners over token opposition. Talmadge was running for a second term. Vinson, the dean of the House, has been in Washington since 1914.

ETV Coverage Is Illegal, Ruling On Conventions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The state education commissioner says coverage of state political conventions by state-aided educational television stations would be illegal. He suggests that a future Legislature "may wish to clarify" the law on the subject.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. rejected Wednesday requests by the Republican and Democratic state chairmen that the nominating conventions next week be broadcast by the stations to give school children an insight into an aspect of the election process.

Prohibited by Law

Allen said he and the State Board of Regents had given the requests careful consideration. But he added that their conclusion was that such coverage was prohibited by state law.

"We feel that the broadcast of political conventions would be the use of programs for partisan political purposes quite aside from their educational aspects," he said.

Charles A. Brind, education department counsel, had said earlier that the law providing for state aid to the stations specifically prohibited their use for partisan political purposes.

Allen said that "of course, the Legislature in a future session may wish to clarify" the law.

Morhouse Slated To Remain as State GOP Head

NEW YORK (AP)—L. Judson Morhouse, who has been Republican state chairman longer than any of his 39 predecessors, is scheduled for reelection to a fifth term Monday, party sources reported.

The 48-year-old lawyer from Ticonderoga has headed New York Republicans for eight years. The previous record tenure in the post was seven years, by Alonzo B. Cornell of New York City in the 19th century.

Soblen's Inquest Is Adjourned

Cause of Death Still Uncertain

LONDON (AP) — An inquest, convened today into the death of Dr. Robert A. Soblen, was adjourned until Oct. 4 after a pathologist testified he was unable to give the cause of the fugitive spy's death.

Dr. Donald Teare, who performed the post-mortem after the 61-year-old psychiatrist died Tuesday in Hillingdon Hospital, said: "I have a considerable amount of work to do yet."

Still Making Inquiries

Another witness at the brief session was Detective Supt. James Mackay of Scotland Yard, who said he is still making inquiries into the case.

Scotland Yard seeks to find how Soblen obtained the massive dose of barbiturates he gulped down a week ago to escape deportation to the United States to serve a life sentence for wartime spying for the Russians.

Soblen was taken to Hillingdon Hospital, where he died without ever coming out of his drug-induced coma.

Dr. C. B. Barnes, the physician who treated him, told newsmen Soblen died of exhaustion following convulsions that apparently were brought on by a brain hemorrhage.

Charges Due Soon

One Scotland Yard official told newsmen charges probably will be brought soon.

The charge of abetting suicide under British law carries a maximum penalty of 14 years imprisonment.

Suspect Body In Ellenville Is Of Richard Cadle

The badly decomposed body of a man found Wednesday afternoon in an unlicensed moving van parked at the D. & M. Furniture Company warehouse on Warren Street, Ellenville, has been tentatively identified as Richard Cadle, about 42. Letters addressed to him were found on his person and Mrs. C. L. Price of 1331 North Wabash Avenue, Springfield, Mo., told Coroner Arthur C. Chipp that it may be her brother.

Aaron Horowitz of the D. & M. Furniture Company of Ellenville went to the warehouse at 14½ Warren Street, during the late afternoon to pick up merchandise. His attention was attracted by a heavy odor. Later two employes, Leonard Wynkoop of 6 Center Street, west, Ellenville, and Leroy Miller of Wawarsing, were sent to investigate. About 6 p. m. they discovered the body of a man in the van parked outside the warehouse. It was unlicensed and had not been used for several months.

The body was found underneath broken down cardboard boxes in the van body of the

Peiping Troops Invade India, No Fighting Yet

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government said today Red Chinese troops have "appeared in the vicinity" of an Indian outpost on the disputed northeast frontier but said "there has been no clash."

Unofficial but reliable sources said an estimated 300 Chinese soldiers invaded Indian territory Tuesday and surrounded a post a mile inside the Himalayan border manned by 30 men of the Assam Rifles.

Advance Nine Miles

There was no indication of any fighting. One unconfirmed report from the northeast said the Chinese disarmed the Indian troops and advanced nine miles farther into India.

A spokesman for the foreign ministry announced:

"Some Chinese forces have appeared in the vicinity of one of our posts in the area of the trijunction of Bhutan, the Northeast Frontier Agency and Tibet. There has been no clash."

Conflicting unofficial reports indicated the Chinese might be pressing toward Towang, an important Buddhist monastery town 15 miles inside the border. Three years ago the Dalai Lama, fleeing from the Red Chinese across the 14,210-mile-high pass from Tibet, made a stopover at Towang.

The Chinese Communists claim the Northeast Frontier Agency's 36,000 square miles—a mountainous, largely unsettled area—belong to Tibet. India maintains the border is the McMahon line, drawn by the British along the peaks of the Himalayas.

4 Skirmishes This Year

The Chinese also claim 12,000 square miles of Ladakh, a bleak and barren plateau near the western end of the Chinese-Indian border. There have been at least four skirmishes there this summer. Ladakh on Indian maps is part of the state of Kashmir.

Chinese troops have entered the Northeast Frontier Agency seven times in the past six years but withdrawn each time. Three incursions were in the same area just east of the mountain state of Bhutan where the Chinese entered Tuesday.

Home Rule Best Relief Method, Mitchell Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Newburgh City Manager Joseph M. Mitchell says if the administration of welfare programs is assigned to local governments "the major problems...will disappear overnight."

Mitchell, author of the controversial Newburgh Welfare Program, told the Moreland Commission Wednesday that the New York State program should be "thoroughly re - evaluated, re - examined and reshaped." The commission is studying welfare in the state.

Urging home rule, Mitchell recommended restricting federal and state governments to the role of observers.

Know Area Best

"Give welfare back to the people. Let the welfare districts decide their own welfare policies. Any county supervisor or city councilman will tell you that his local people know their area best. They are the ones whose voice is important. They are responsible for their community image."

Newburgh's widely publicized welfare changes, which were struck down by the courts, were an attempt at home rule, Mitchell said.

Among the short-lived changes were such policies as cutting off welfare aid to mothers who continued to bear illegitimate children and putting able-bodied relief recipients to work for the city.

A policy of home rule, Mitchell said, "will give the people of each area what they want and need... but above all, it will be in accord with the principles of our democracy."

Still Use Armored Cars

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet armored cars drove into West Berlin again today to change the guard at the Red war memorial despite pressure from the Western Allies for a switch to buses. The British halted them long enough for an interpreter to give a message to the Soviet commander.

The Soviets have been using armored cars since Aug. 21, after buses used previously were stoned by West Berliners angry over the shooting of a young refugee at the wall.

Busy Meeting for Ulster Town

Opening of 9W, Lights, Traffic Are Discussed

In a busy session Wednesday night the Town Board of the Town of Ulster discussed and took action on several town problems. Among them were:

Action by the State Department of Public Works to hasten opening of the new pavement at the junction of Route 9W and Route 199 where the new Route 209 arterial route crosses Route 9W.

Renaming of town streets in the area of the new arterial route.

Installation of street lights in the newly formed lighting district.

A survey by the State Traffic Commission and possible installation of traffic lights, speed zones and signs.

Possible addition to the Town Highway Building.

Purchase of property for park purposes under the law which authorizes use of State funds up to three-quarters of the cost with the town paying one quarter.

Awarding of a contract to Universal Road Machinery Company of Kingston, low bidder for a paver-grader at a cost of $2,058.

Move for State Money

With Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo presiding, the town board received a report on a survey made by Brinnier & Larios, engineers, on a property which it has been proposed be acquired for park lands. A real estate appraisal has been completed by Harold E. Macholdt. Supervisor Banyo was authorized to submit the necessary forms with other information to the State for participation in the cost.

Under a recent law the state will pay 75 per cent of the cost. The matter has been discussed with State Conservation Department and Park Division officials by Supervisor Banyo and following that meeting the town received approval to proceed with the project.

A report was received on the summer recreation program and the board appointed Robert Bondar to head the recreation program for the fall and winter season.

Reports on Lighting

Central Hudson through Robert Strickland, reported on the proposed lighting district. Following completion of field work by the Central Hudson, the board authorized Supervisor Banyo to sign a contract with Central Hudson. The approximate cost will be $6,580. Arrangements will be made, if possible, to have the lights turned on by December 1, 1962.

Chairman of the board of assessors, Leroy Crosby, was authorized to arrange for tax warrants for the light district be prepared so as to be incorporated in the 1963 tax roll.

It is estimated the annual cost

'First Come' Will Be New Rule to Give Road Money

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — State aid for improvement of county highways will be distributed in the future on a "first come, first served" basis, the state superintendent of public works announced today.

Supt. J. Burch McMorran, in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the State County Highway Superintendents Association, said the new plan was aimed at "increasing county-highway improvements throughout the state."

Previously, state and federal funds had been made available to counties for highway purposes on the basis of a formula that considered a county's rural population and mileage of town and county highways.

"Some counties, for reasons that may be perfectly valid locally, choose to participate in the program warily, if at all," McMorran said.

To Draw on Pool

McMorran told the county superintendents that the Department of Public Works would "put the state-federal funds in a statewide pool upon which each county may draw—within reason—on a first come, first served basis as plans are prepared and right-of-way acquired."

He said that some counties had available to them more than $1 million in unused state aid for highway improvements. Other counties had obligated as much as $1.5 million in future apportionments.

State and federal funds for reconstruction and other improvements to county highways total about $7 million a year. Because some counties have not applied for the money to which they are entitled, about $12 million in aid is now available to counties that wish to speed their highway work, McMorran said.

Forthright Statement Is Planned

GOP Is Assailed For Specific Acts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today to be planning a forthright statement at his news conference tonight on the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

Sen. Herbert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., gave newsmen this report after a morning White House meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the President.

Discuss Troop Authority

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic floor leader, said he was sure Kennedy would have a great deal more to say about the Cuban situation at the news conference.

The congressional leaders said they had a lengthy discussion with the President on his request for standby authority to call 150,000 Reserves to active duty.

A resolution to grant this authority has run into Republican demands in the Senate for tougher and more specific action. Some of the GOP members want to put in amendments calling for strong action against Cuba or any other Communist moves.

Humphrey, assistant Democratic floor leader, said he hoped that the Senate would reject these Republic moves.

Sees Reckless Act

He asserted that Republicans were trying to make Cuba an issue in the current congressional election campaigns and termed this "mischievous and reckless."

He hinted that Democrats may offer a substitute for varied earlier GOP proposals.

In any event, Humphrey said the Senate plans to call up and pass the Reserves measure before it quits for the day.

Mansfield, in a separate interview, said he hoped Congress would come up finally with a bipartisan approach.

Faced with new proposals, Mansfield sidetracked temporarily the call-up bill. Instead of putting it at the top of the agenda, he scheduled in its place the $500-million mass transportation bill.

Evidently he hoped to use the time to work out a procedure for jettisoning the amendments of now, possibly by sending them to the Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees for later consideration.

May Approve Tonight

Mansfield said he still expects the Senate to approve the standby authority before quitting time tonight.

The measure would permit

Gotham Police Head's Copter Is Forced Down

A police heliocopter carrying New York City Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy, 48, made a forced landing on the Otis Davis farm on Lucas Avenue Extension near the Thruway Wednesday afternoon.

The commissioner was on his way to the police camp at Plattecove near Tannersville, Greene County when a broken fuel line forced the landing in an open field.

The commissioner completed his trip through the courtesy of Kingston state police who assigned BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia to escort the police official to the camp.

Wagner Is for Morgenthau, Stresses Open Convention

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner, confirming what has been common political gossip for a month, has named Robert M. Morgenthau as his choice for the democratic nomination for governor.

"I am for him," Wagner announced Wednesday, "but I hasten to emphasize that this is an open convention."

Within two hours of the announcement by the leader of New York State Democrats, former U. S. Sen. Herbert H. Lehman also endorsed Morgenthau, his great-nephew.

Both Wagner and Lehman declared that they spoke only as individual delegates to the state convention in Syracuse at which the candidate will be picked next week to oppose Republican Gov. Rockefeller.

Opposing Morgenthau for the nomination are Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, and Industrialist Howard J. Samuels of Canandaigua. All promised Morgenthau a floor fight.

Wagner termed Morgenthau, son of Franklin D. Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury, Henry Morgenthau Jr., a "refreshing contrast" to Rockefeller.

"Although my mind has been made up for some days," Wagner said, "I have not exerted the pressure of my position in his behalf."

Stratton said he was not surprised at the endorsement because Wagner "was the real power behind the synthetic Morgenthau boom" from the start.

Morgenthau resigned as U.S. attorney in the Southern District of New York Sept. 4 to enter the race. But his candidacy had been boomed unofficially since Wagner conferred with President Kennedy Aug. 14 in Washington.

Democratic sources had indicated that state party leaders favored a Jewish candidate in the hope that he could match Lehman's success as a vote-getter. Lehman was elected governor and then senator. Morgenthau is Jewish.

Samuels defended Wagner's right to make his preference known, but thanked the mayor for his promise of an open convention.

Morgenthau will need 570 votes to get the nomination. He said he has no preference for running mates, beyond selection of "the strongest possible ticket."

William H. McKeon, the state party chairman, announced Wednesday night that Sharon J. Mauhs, 61, of Cobleskill had been chosen chairman of the convention's committee on platform and resolutions.

Brass, Copper Firms Deny Price-Fix, 11 Concerns, 7 Officers Are Indicted

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Government anti-trust lawyers have obtained an indictment of 11 brass and copper firms—including some of the biggest companies in the industry—on charges of price fixing.

The indictment handed down Wednesday by a special grand jury in U.S. District Court here also named seven officers of the companies.

The indictment against the brass manufacturers charges that they acted in concert to fix prices on copper and brass tube and pipe from 1956 until 1961.

Denials came quickly from officials of some of the companies.

National Distillers and Chemical Corp., whose subsidiary, Bridgeport Brass Co., was one of those cited, said:

"The existence of keen and vigorous competition between the numerous domestic producers of brass mill products is, we believe, indisputably attested to by the fact that over the past five years prices of these products have steadily and substantially declined in spite of rising costs."

The grand jury was called in March of last year following reports that the Tennessee Valley Authority had received six identical bids when it sought to purchase some brass tubing for a steam-electric plant in Alabama.

From 1956 to 1960, the period during which the government claims the price-fixing was going on, the indicted companies accounted for about 90 per cent of the sales of brass and copper products by manufacturers in this country.

The maximum penalty for convicted anti-trust violators is a fine of $50,000, a year in prison, or both.

According to the indictment, the alleged conspirators met 18 times to agree on prices. Some of the meetings were held, it was charged, when the defendants were at industry conventions.

The indicted companies included Revere Copper and Brass Inc., of New York City.

See Fake Charge By Tshombe in Casualty Claim

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)— President Moise Tshombe says a new clash between United Nations troops and gendarmes of his breakaway Katanga Province has destroyed his faith in the U.N. plan to unify the Congo.

The suspicion arose that Tshombe was using the incident as a pretext to prolong his secession.

Claiming U.N. Indian troops triggered the clash Wednesday and killed two of his gendarmes, Tshombe told newsmen the incident was an imbecility "coming at the moment when I and my ministers were examining the U.N. plan."

U.N. officials said the Katangans fired first and denied there were any casualties.

A delegate at U.N. headquarters in New York expressed belief Tshombe faked the casualty claim as a pretext for rejecting the U.N. plan to bring his province and its mineral wealth under the authority of the central Congo government. U.S. officials in Washington expressed similar views privately.

Tshombe showed newsmen the bodies of a gendarme corporal and a private at an Elisabethville morgue, claiming they were killed in the clash. He charged U.N. troops opened up with machine guns after ordering his men away from a roadblock near the U.N.-controlled Elisabethville airport.

"If the United Nations want war they can have it," Tshombe said. "It won't be child's play like (the U.N.-Katanga flareups) last September and December."

Lift Hudson Water Ban 2 Hours on Trial Basis

The ban on unnecessary use of water at Hudson, Columbia County, in effect since July, has been lifted for a two-hour period daily on a trial basis, according to Hudson City Department of Public Works.

Hudson residents are now permitted to wash cars and water lawns between 6 and 8 p. m. daily.

The announcement said easing of the ban was strictly on a trial basis and if the level at the reservoir drops steadily as a result of the new order, then the full-time ban will return.

Physician Sought In Abort Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Police are hunting a Queens physician in whose office an abortion victim died Wednesday. The doctor was awaiting trial in an earlier abortion death.

Dr. Mandel Friedman, a 53-year-old gynecologist, vanished Wednesday after he had been released from custody following extensive questioning. He failed to surrender to the Queens district attorney's office as scheduled.

A 13-state alarm sought his arrest for homicide.

Police said Charles Beck, 31, a Madison Avenue advertising executive, told authorities he accompanied Barbara Clark Covington, a Florida divorcee, to Friedman's office where she was to undergo an abortion for $1,000.

Police quoted him as saying:

"I loved her. I wanted to marry here. I did not want her to go through with this thing."

He said he waited in the anteroom for an hour, until Friedman came out and said she was dead, police reported.

Miss Covington, 35, was a daughter of a deceased Florida fruit packer and a sister of D. D. Covington Jr. of Dade City, Fla., Democratic nominee for the Florida State Senate.

Beck, according to police, said he agreed at first with the gynecologist's plan to attribute the death to a heart attack.

A funeral director who was called to remove the body made a routine report to the medical examiner's office. Detectives subsequently recognized Friedman's name as the defendant in the abortion death in January, 1961, of Vivian Grant. Miss Grant, 23, a book editor, died in Friedman's office.

Emerson to Advertise In 200 Newspapers

An intensive national advertising and sales promotion campaign with a budget in excess of $3,000,000 projected over the next 12 months was announced today by Emerson Radio Inc.

Gene Van Cleve, advertising and sales promotion manager, stated that over $1,000,000 has been allocated over the next five months for factory-placed advertising to appear nationally in top magazines and in over 200 newspapers from coast to coast covering every major market in the country.

The campaign, Van Cleve said, will get under way in trade media within the next month. Consumer ads will begin appearing in mass circulation publications late in the summer and continue right through the fall, the peak sales period for the home entertainment industry, he said.

Would Rewrite All Marketing Orders To Aid Milk Flow

NEW YORK (AP) — A milk marketing expert from Wisconsin has proposed that all federal marketing agreements be rewritten to guarantee the "free flow of milk."

But Robert J. Williams, marketing expert of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, emphasized that milk producers of his state are not trying to invade eastern markets with low-priced milk.

"It would not be profitable to do so," he added.

Williams was among the witnesses Wednesday at a hearing being conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to consider proposals for amending federal orders on handling of milk in the New York-New Jersey area.

Changes in the orders have been made necessary by a Supreme Court decision outlawing compensatory payments to out-of-district suppliers. The court ruled the payments were in restraint of trade.

A Pennsylvania official testified he believed the New York-New Jersey area was "fantastically over-supplied" with milk but said he could not understand why suppliers in the area object to what he termed a "dribble" of milk products from producers in other areas.

The statement was made by Caleb K. Hobbie, of the Lehigh Valley Dairy, a farmers' cooperative in Pennsylvania.

He said some of the proposed amendments to the marketing orders would pose an economic threat to the security of his cooperative and the farmers who supply it.

Industrial Expansion, Bridge Job CC Topics

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted Tuesday night to sponsor the organization of a non-profit, membership corporation with the specific purpose of promoting industrial expansion and to request that the State Department of Public Works rush the construction of the proposed Esopus Creek bridge.

Hugh R. Elwyn, chairman of the chamber's Industrial Development Committee, discussed the committee's recommendation for the industrial expansion corporation. The working out of details for the corporation was turned over to the Executive Committee.

The action on the Esopus Creek Bridge was necessitated Aug. 28 when the old bridge collapsed allegedly under the weight of a greatly overloaded cement truck. City and area residents and businessmen have since complained of being highly inconvenienced by the absence of a structure connecting Route 28.

Vote $150 for Seminar

The directors also voted to advance $150 to the National Security Seminar Committee headed by John Ponsen. The funds will be repayed from enrollment fees. It is anticipated that this seminar, lasting two full weeks early next May, will attract an attendance of between 400 and 500. It was pointed out that the seminar here is the only one conducted by the Industrial College of the Armed Forces east of Dayton, Ohio. It is being sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and is one of 14 conducted each year between September and June.

William Darling, a chamber director and president of the H. F. King Corporation was named chairman of the Nominating Committee. This committee has the responsibility to name between 30 and 50 candidates for the office of director of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. The list is mailed to the membership and the 14 receiving the highest number of votes are placed in nomination. On a second ballot seven are elected for a term of three years.

Directory Ready

The first copies of the new classified membership directory were distributed at the directors' meeting. Copies of the directory are given out in answer to the many requests received at the Chamber office regarding area sources of goods and services. In the near future a copy will be sent out to every member.

Eight new membership applications were approved. They were Studio Girl Cosmetics of Stone Ridge, Port Ewen Garage, Old Capital Motors, Feuer Transportation Corporation, Nytralite, Inc., Raymond Korzendorfer, Landell Asphalt Corporation and the Rondout-Woodstock Oil Co.

Vice President Harry Rigby Jr. presided in the absence of President Sam Pepper who was at his home following a minor operation.

THE GREAT ADVENTURE

There is something comfortably folksy and commonplace about the phrase, "back to school." One tends to smile at the streams of children and young people as they flow past on the way to school again, without thinking much about what it means.

The really essential thing to bear in mind is that what we are witnessing is not merely the flow of youngsters "back to school," but one of the most significant functions of society. Here is society in the very act of reaching out for knowledge and understanding, seeking to pass on to the custodians of society's future both accumulated wisdom and habits of thought.

One of the distinguishing marks of humankind is this conscious effort to pass on to the young what has been learned by previous generations. Other creatures acquire knowledge instinctively and even, in some instances, consciously transmit knowledge in a rudimentary way. It is man, and only man, who knowingly assembles the fruits of experience and thought and attempts to preserve these for the future.

So this is what "back to school" is all about. This is, in a sense, the supreme endeavor of mankind—to learn what has been done, to think about what might be done. Young America, like it or not, is embarked again on the great adventure

ON VERGE OF CHANGES

The world is on the verge of major political change which will be brought about, inevitably, by the mere passage of time. This springs from the fact that of the present national leaders abroad, a couple dozen of the most important either are well along in years or in bad health.

Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is 86, France's President de Gaulle 71. Premier Nehru of India is not only 72, but his health appears to be waning. Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain is nearly 70, Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek 75. Nikita Khruschev and Mao Tse-tung, the two major Communist leaders, are both 68.

The deaths of any one of the above would significantly alter the world picture. The deaths of several would bring about a new international setup.

One interesting aspect of this circumstance is that President Kennedy, one of the world's most youthful leaders, may be faced with a new group of heads of state before his term runs out. If he is returned to office, he will certainly be dealing with numerous different world leaders before he has run his course as president.

Bankruptcy filings have increased 400 per cent in the last 10 years. That even beats the cost of living increase.

SMALL BUSINESS WEEK

This week has been designated as Small Business Week. The honor is deserved. The contribution of small businesses, to the growth, strength and living standards of this country could hardly be exaggerated It would be a sad day if opportunity for the creation, expansion and the very existence of small business ever disappeared.

But some of those who are concerned about the future of small business seem to be seeing the wrong specters—such as, for instance, big business. One of small business' worst enemies is found in super-government, with its tax laws and crazy-quilt administrative and regulatory procedures. These place burdens on the small business that, in innumerable instances, make its progress impossible and lead to retrenchment and failures.

What this country needs is a climate that is favorable to all legitimate business, regardless of size. There are certain fields in which capital requirements and other economic considerations demand the huge enterprise. There are others in which the small business can do as good or a better job than the big one. Let both flourish—and then we'll really activate the national march forward that everyone is talking about these days.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

DR. SCHWARZ'S DIFFICULTY

Dr. Fred Schwarz, who operates the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, found New York to be a cold, distant city. He ran an anti-Communist meeting in Madison Square Garden which was attended by only 8,000 which in New York City is a small audience. His anti-Communist School was held in the smaller Carnegie Hall and was poorly attended. Altogether Dr. Schwarz is reported to have said that the operation netted him a loss of $75,000.

That is a lot of money to lose. Dr. Schwarz was apparently poorly advised. New York City is no place to hold such meetings in August. It is too hot, too humid, too sticky. Secondly, an anti-Communist school implies that folks need to be taught. New York City includes some 60 institutions of higher education, including Columbia, New York, Fordham, St. John's Yeshiva Universities, to mention only a few. These universities deal with Marxism, Socialism, Communism, etc., through scholarship and usually students of these subjects are familiar with German and Russian and even Chinese and are doing original research.

However, the Australian doctor and his associates have since been explaining the failure as the result of a conspiracy against him. In other words, Khrushchev took time off from the satellite business and building a wall around Berlin to prevent eager New Yorkers from going to Schwarz's school at Carnegie Hall. Those who wanted to go, could go. The doors were open.

No! There was no conspiracy against Dr. Schwarz. Others have failed in New York—the Giants had to move to San Francisco and the Dodgers to Los Angeles. There was no conspiracy against them. Folks in New York wonder where they will park their car and whether they can find a baby-sitter. Nevertheless, Norman Vincent Peale usually fills his church and St. Patrick's is jammed of an Easter Sunday.

A man wrote me that in Tyler, Texas, Dr. Schwarz claimed that he received minutes of secret meetings of Jewish organizations who were plotting how to sabotage him. I should like to see such minutes. Not only Jews, but many Protestant ministers were antagonistic to Schwarz's New York campaign, but there was no conspiracy. Everything was in the open.

In the five thousand years of Jewish history, the Jews have learned to fear the apostate. Many of the most outrageous libels against the Jews, throughout their history, originated with apostates. Dr. Fred Schwarz's father was a Jew who became a Christian and here is his son, who when an operation of his fails, by innuendo blames it upon a conspiracy, which, the way it is said, may be called a Jewish conspiracy. That was what Jewish apostates did from Hellenic times in Jerusalem to the present day. So, naturally, Jews did not take to Schwarz. But there was no conspiracy.

Dr. Schwarz says:

"We are not anti-Semitic. There is nothing anti-Semitic about being a Christian. We have one common enemy—Communism."

Nevertheless, Dr. Walter Kerr in an interview with "The Texas Observer" says:

"Boy, I tell you, (Schwarz) spells out a death struggle with the Jews. I was quite amazed and really rather heartsick ... Schwarz said, 'New York is controlled by them,' that is, by Jews. He said the thing is divided down the middle, Christians and Jews."

It has apparently become a crime not to meet Dr. Schwarz. My friend, Bill Buckley, makes quite a point of that in an article in the "National Review," which was founded for more serious purposes. This is an unwarranted statement:

"... As an experienced man, he (Dr. Schwarz) is well aware of the tendency, so frequently remarked, to brand as anti-Semitic anyone associated with an explicitly Christian undertaking who is also a tough anti-Communist or conservative ..."

Cardinal Spellman is a Christian, a tough anti-Communist and a conservative, but no sensible person would call him an anti-Semite. Dr. Dan Poling, editor of "The Christian Herald, is a Christian, an anti-Communist and a conservative and no sensible person would call him an anti-Semite. Buckley is off base about that.

An attack was made on Arnold Forster of the Anti-Defamation League that he would not meet Dr. Schwarz. That is a matter of taste. Dr. Schwarz has been in this country eight or nine years and many persons have not met him. In fact, more persons have not met him than have met him.

The Cancer Cure Quacks, Thrive on Such as These

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Each time the American Cancer Society calls attention to an unproven method of cancer treatment or I warn my readers against exploitation by those who merchandise these "cures," we are certain to receive a few letters accusing us of being in a league to discredit "scientists," of blinding ourselves to "discoveries."

In contrast, we occasionally receive a note of commendation such as this:

"You will never know how glad I was to read your article on cancer 'cures.' My husband is slowly dying of the disease and I know what you are talking about and why you are writing these articles.

"I have a sister-in-law who has caused all the heartache and expense in the world for my husband and me by making us go in for these fake cures.

"She talked us into buying a juicer some time back and wanted him to drink at least a half gallon a day. She gets us to buy vitamin E and all other vitamins by the carload.

"She made me boil all the food he eats in spring water and to buy a drug at $10 a bottle because she heard that it cures 'terminal cancer.' She even made me pour it into the poor dear's sores and cavities.

"She got me to plant some kind of root in my garden, and grind it up, together with sunflower seeds and oatmeal, and put it in capsules for him.

"If I say 'no' to her suggestions, she says I don't want him to get well.

"If I tell her to speak to our doctor, whom we trust as a real good friend, she says doctors don't want patients to get well because it's bad for business.

"So you can see how relieved I was to read your column because it made me fell that I wasn't doing wrong at all in not believing her because there is nothing I wouldn't do to keep my husband alive so long as I knew I was using a proved medicine that our doctor knew about."

I know just what you are up against, my dear lady. And, for your further information, here are some facts about what is being done at the National Service Center for Cancer Chemotherapy that may surprise your sister-in-law and others like her who peddle misinformation and unjustifiable abuse with equal abandon:

In the seven years of its existence, the center has completed 110 studies of different cancers and types of treatment agents and measures. Another 181 studies are in progress. Engaged in these studies are 560 investigators.

Since 1955, some 175,000 materials from industrial, academic and private institutions have been screened. These materials include synthetic hormonal agents, antibiotics and plant products.

For the fiscal year ending June, 1962, our federal government has spent 31.5 million dollars on these projects. Of this amount, nearly 19 millions were allocated for drug development contracts.

But who can convince your sister-in-law that these authorities know more than she thinks she does?

Heads of State Exchange Views

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The most optimistic Washington appraisal of Soviet Russia's stepped-up program of military and economic aid to Cuba is that it is intended to create a strong Communist bargaining position with the United States.

The most pessimistic appraisal is, of course, that the Russian build-up in Cuba must necessarily lead to a showdown and even a shooting war which not even the Russians will want.

IN BETWEEN these two extremes, many interesting alternatives are being studied. The highly controversial differences between the United States and Russia include not only Cuba itself, but also Berlin, a nuclear test ban, diarmament and almost every item on the agenda of the coming United Nations General Assembly session in New York.

So what is at stake here is a complicated game of power politics chess, in which every possible move must be carefully considered from both sides before a play is made.

From the viewpoint of Communist strategy, the Russians may consider it no more hostile for them to give military aid to Cuba than it is for the United States to give arms aid to West Germany and all the other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries. For Russia has long considered NATO a threat against her internal security—not just a defensive alliance.

From the Communist point of view, the Russians are just beginning their massive buildup in Cuba. The United States, however, has poured over $45 billion into Europe since 1948—$15 billion in military assistance, $30 billion in economic assistance, of which $10 billion has been loans.

Also, the Russians maintain they are sending only "technicians" to Cuba, whereas the United States has troops in uniform, jet aircraft and missile bases in west Europe.

From the American point of view, however, Russian aid to Cuba is by no means small potatoes. The Russian line that only defensive antiaircraft missiles are being supplied to Cuba fools no one, even if it is true.

HERE IS A POTENTIAL threat against the United States Naval base at Guantanamo. Cape Canaveral is only 300 miles away from Havana and it would take only one small nuclear warhead to destroy the principal American missile launching site.

Conversely, from the Communist point of view, Cape Canaveral, Key West and Guantanamo are potential bases for moves against Cuba. So here are prime weapons on both sides, loaded if not yet cocked.

All the pieces are in place for a game of power politics as played by Communist rules. If the Russian presence in Cuba is considered a threat to the United States, the Russian can offer to withdraw—in exchange for, say, American withdrawal from Guantanamo as a minimum concession.

If the game is to be played for larger stakes, withdrawal of Western forces from Berlin could be the asking price. Or if the bargaining is to be on a strictly bilateral basis, withdrawal of all American forces and bases from western Europe would be asked in exchange for Russian withdrawal from Cuba.

ALL THIS is highly speculative, obviously. But it is a necessary part of the exercise of trying to anticipate Communist strategic moves. All the alternatives offered would be bad deals for the United States because they would be appeasement and even surrender. They would be good deals for the Russians because they would lose nothing by getting out of politically and economically bankrupt Cuba.

There is another school of thought here, however, that the Russians are playing for bigger stakes—the Communist domination of all Latin America, operating from a Cuban base.

According to this theory, the only real reason the Russians have for trying to save Cuba is that Communist prestige is at stake. Having failed in their attempted take-over in Guatemala, operating indirectly through Latin-Americans, the Russians themselves are moving into Cuba to prevent another setback in their penetration of the Western Hemisphere. This is now considered a far more realistic motive for the Russians' direct move into Cuba.

Senate Campaign Oddities Recall Good Old System

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It's an ill wind that blows no good, and maybe the nationwide attention which the oddities of the Senatorial campaign in Massachusetts have attracted will cause the American people to begin thinking about some system other than direct election for choosing United States Senators.

While Edward M. Kennedy, who is 30 years old, and Edward J. McCormack Jr., who is 39 years old, are both promising young men, it seems strange that the citizens of Massachusetts who happen to belong to the Democratic party are not able to select for their nominee some one who has the maturity and experience and judgment needed for service in the United States Senate.

The idea that youth and ambition aren't necessarily the main qualifications for high office isn't, of course, original. Former President Truman raised his voice in vain in behalf of maturity and experience when he urged John F. Kennedy in the summer of 1960 to step aside for a while and let an older man have the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. But at least Mr. Kennedy was 43 years old at the time.

The authors of the Constitution felt that the United States Senate should have a high caliber of public servant, with two Senators to represent each sovereign state. It was specified, therefore, that Senators should be chosen by the majority vote of state Legislatures. For many decades in American history this system provided some of the ablest men in the country—men like Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, Charles Sumner and Elihu Root.

Bosses Forced Change

But the state Legislatures fell into disrepute because political bosses managed to manipulate the vote for their own purposes. So the Constitution was changed in 1913 to provide for the election of Senators by popular vote.

Public opinion inevitably would have corrected the abuses that arose. Laws could have been enacted to prevent the buying of votes in state Legislatures by means of patronage and other devices. For the system of selecting Senators by vote of the state Legislatures was not itself at fault.

Direct election today means a costly and difficult kind of campaign for a would-be candidate—usually a primary and a general election. Unless someone can gain popularity by athletic prominence or by crooning or by a family relationship to someone in the public eye, the chances of winning a nomination or an election are not very good nowadays.

Campaigns Get Slanted

Some of the states have by law provided a state-convention system for nominating purposes, as against a primary-election system. But the fact remains that, when a candidate for the Senate has to go before all the voters of a state, he tends to move toward demagoguery and the kind of political maneuvering that will get votes for him from one populous section as against another with less voters. The idea od deciding public questions on basis of what is good for the state as a whole has been superseded by considerations of what is likely to prove popular in the cities versus the country districts, or vice versa.

Whatever the faults of the system that enabled state Legislatures to elect United States Senators, they were never as damaging to the public interest as is the method of direct election. If the state Legislatures were once more to have power to elect their Senators, there would be many persons aspiring to the office who would never care to engage in the sort of political campaigning which now is in vogue. An able lawyer, a devoted servant of the public in city or county or state affairs who has a good mind, but does not happen to possess a magnetic voice or television personality, is not likely to seek office by means of two statewide contests against opponents who might merely be better showmen or more clever debaters on television.

Always on Defense

The founding fathers felt that Senators should be elected by Legislatures for six years so as to give them less cause for concern about the transient moods of the electorate. But nowadays the necessities of a primary campaign and a final election contest induce many a Senator to spend a good deal of time every year in his home state filling speaking engagements and putting in appearances at various functions. All this takes him away from important duties in Washington. The method of electing Senators by popular vote is, of course, the basic reason for the constant campaigning which so many Senators are obliged to do, for back home there is always the threat of two or three potential opponents who have plenty of time to make the rounds and drum up political support for the next election.

Under the previous system, politics played a part, but members of a state legislature who picked a man not really qualified for the office were likely to find themselves in difficulties in their own election districts. Selecting a Senator used to be a major responsibility of the party in power at the State House, and men of unquestioned ability generally were chosen.

At least in the old days they wouldn't have selected a youngster with a relative among the politically powerful—they would have picked a man who had already served in the state legislature or the House of Representatives and who had distinguished himself in the eyes of the citizens of the state. Massachusetts, too, once had great Senators selected by that system.

Court Justices Just Men, Too

Goldberg's View Nice Ideal, Hardly Human

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can a Supreme Court justice be unprejudiced? That's a nice ideal but it's hardly human.

The ideal was expressed again this week by Arthur J. Goldberg, former secretary of labor who was named to the court by President Kennedy and awaits Senate approval.

He told a Senate committee: "I would regard it as my first task as a justice to be on guard lest my prejudices and predelictions are erected into legal principles."

Goldberg had been a labor lawyer most of his life but severed all connections with unions even to the point of declining a pension when he became secretary.

Human Being, Too

A justice faces "no more serious task" than to put aside personal views, even those felt deeply or expressed strongly in the past, he said.

But a justice, being a human being, must have toward life and living a number of definite views which are the product of his parental background, environment, education, association and experience.

Charles G. Haines, professor of political science at the University of California, wrote 40 years ago in the Illinois Law Review:

"Free as the court has generally been from sectional influence and partisanship, like all judicial tribunals it has been subject at times to human interests and personal considerations from which it is not possible for judges, however it might be desired, to be entirely removed."

Presidents, for instance, don't pick justices without knowing something of their views. To do otherwise might mean picking a man who, once on the bench, would wreck their programs.

Presidents Washington and Adams picked none but fellow-Federalists as justices. Presidents Taft and Theodore Roosevelt looked to appoint men whose views were "right," meaning the same as their own.

Holmes Miffed Teddy

Roosevelt is a classic example of presidential frustration in this field. He was greatly miffed when after appointing Oliver Wendell Holmes, the justice disappointed Roosevelt with his vote on an antitrust case.

Haines sketched out three directions for a justice to take:

The mechanical way—Haines called it a "judicial slot machine"—under which a justice is not supposed to be affected by a particular circumstance but decides entirely on legal principles.

The free legal decision way—in which a justice humanizes himself by using some discretion in applying the law. To put it another way: he is not entirely bound by legalisms.

The psychological or human way—which means no justice can entirely divest himself of views and attitudes accumulated over a lifetime.

The mechanical theory was propounded by Justice David J. Brewer, who died in 1910, and Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney who died in 1864.

Brewer thought the "meaning" of the Constitution "does not alter." The only trouble with that is that each justice, after all, must decide for himself what the Constitution means.

Taney said the Constitution had the same meaning in his day as it had from the beginning. Because he tried to argue that way he turned out the most infamous decision in American history.

This was the case of Dred Scott, a Negro slave, in 1857. His freedom was at stake. The court ruled against him with this reasoning:

That neither a slave nor his descendants are citizens under the Constitution and therefore are not entitled to the protections and benefits of citizens. This decision enlarged slavery and helped bring on the Civil War.

The verdict, 7-2 against Scott, had interesting overtones. Five of the seven—including Taney—who voted against Scott were Southerners and slave holders.

Influenced by Background

It's stretching the imagination to think they were not influenced by their background or way of life.

In 1937 the court, under President Franklin Roosevelt's prodding, began to agree the government has a responsibility for the general welfare. This has become accepted as a way of American life.

Can you imagine a justice being chosen today who thought otherwise?

Th bidding in the box took place when Forquet and Garozzo of Italy held the North-South cards against America on deal 56 of the World Championship match.

North's diamond opening was nomal. East's double was a psychological bid designed to do something or other—usually the man who makes this kind of bid isn't sure what.

South's redouble seemed normal, but in the Neapolitan system as played by Forquet and Garozzo it also guarantees some diamond support. West's one heart was correct and North's two diamond rebid showed a minimum opening with at least four diamonds.

East's pass was correct. He had already bid his full strength. South's pass was rather extreme. Even with a minimum diamond opening in the North hand, three or four diamonds would have to be safe and with any additional values there should be a good play for some game. However, Garozzo thought East and West would compete and if he passed and bid later he might get doubled at a part score contract.

However, there were no further bids and North had to play two diamonds. With the King of hearts in the right place he made five.

The American North-South had no such inhibitions. They reached five diamonds easily. Since the proof of the pudding is in the eating, East's psychological double paid off.

There are more species of wild flowers in Arkansas than in any other state in the Union.

There's just as much horse sense in the world as ever but now only the horses have it.

Five Will Help In Recovery Try Of Drowned Man

CHIBOUGAMU, Que. (AP)—A Provincial Police officer and four Americans were flown into the remote bush of Rupert River Wednesday night in an attempt to recover the body of a drowned fisherman.

The Fecteau Air Services float-equipped plane took advantage of an evening break in generally bad weather to get the search party into the area.

Rudolph Zamenick of New Windsor, N.Y., drowned last Friday when his canoe was swamped in the rapids of the river at a camp 450 miles north of Montreal and 112 miles north of Chibougamau.

Col. Raymond Lamonde of the Quebec Provincial Police detachment here heads the search party.

Searching are Art Fox, Bob Burns, Dick Weir and Charles Leo, companions of the drowned man. Al Zamenick, his brother, remained in Chibougamau.

Fecteau Air Services said the plane is in radio contact with its base. The pilot plans to stay until the body is found or the search abandoned.

Continues Blast Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission continued a public hearing today into the explosion of a propane-gas truck in the rural hamlet of Berlin after hearing testimony on the truck-driver's traffic record.

Ten persons died as a result of the blast.

The hearing, which began Wednesday, had not yet turned up any clear evidence on what caused the 7,000 gallon tank-truck to smash into a tree and explode, spreading flames that destroyed 11 homes, a church and several other buildings near the center of the Rensselaer County community.

RAIL TALE—"Straddle Buggy" played an important role in building a new 39-mile line from Abra to Skull Valley, Ariz. Because no rail line existed to carry the 1,440-foot lengths of welded rail to their exact destination, Santa Fe Railway engineers developed the machine to pull the long rail sections from flat cars at end of track directly into their place on the waiting ties without disturbing them.

Still Search for Clues

WINDSOR, N.Y. (AP)—The investigation into the slaying of Mrs. Iva Munson remained focused today on her isolated home in a wooded rural area near this Broome County village.

Sheriff's deputies cordoned off the house Wednesday night and brought in generators to provide light in their intensive search for clues in the death of the 41-year-old mother of four.

The road to the house, a mile and a half from its nearest neighbor, was blocked to newsmen and the general public. The generators were needed because the house is not wired for elecricity.

Eye Oct. 5 Quit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today Democratic leaders now expect Congress to adjourn Friday, Oct. 5.

"This is the consensus of congressional leaders," Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, told newsmen after a White House conference of congressional leaders.

Humphrey said the House expects to begin work on the foreign aid money bill Sept. 19 or 20 and here for more than three weeks from today.

Monroe Co. Man Seems Favored For Comptroller

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Republican state leaders are leaning toward Monroe County Judge John P. Lomenzo among half a dozen men considered for the GOP nomination for state comptroller, it was learned today.

Lomenzo emerged as the front-running choice for the nomination—only major vacancy on the GOP state ticket this year—at a closed-door strategy meeting of the Republican high command here Tuesday.

Informed sources said a final decision would not be made until the leaders reassemble again next week at the Republican state convention in Buffalo. The convention will be Tuesday and Wednesday.

Others who were given strong consideration for the nomination to oppose Democrat Arthur Levitt are:

State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy, Erie County Executive Edward A. Rath, Chautauqua County Treasurer Robert H. Miller, Monroe County Manager Gordon A. Howe and Richard Cardamone, Republican chairman of Oneida County.

Selection of Lomenzo was said to reflect a desire to include a candidate of Italian - American origin on the GOP ticket this year. It was expected also that his presence on the ticket would help attract votes from the metropolitan Rochester area.

Will Probe Belt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will launch a satellite this year to probe the man-made radiation belt resulting from a U.S. high-altitude nuclear test.

The announcement Wednesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said an Explorer series satellite will obtain information on possible effects of the radiation on future satellites and will give the world scientific community additional data on the artificial environments created by the new radiation belt.

Second Fire Occurs In Converse House

A fire of suspected incendiary origin damaged a vacant Converse Street house for the second time this summer Wednesday afternoon.

Firemen said the blaze had started in an overstuffed chair and spread to side walls and ceiling in the two-story stone and brick structure. Police were again asked to investigate.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations answered a call at 12:51 p. m. The other fire was in June. The owner of the house is listed as Cecelia Clark, 514 West 146th Street, New York

Democrats Work For Conservatives To Be on Ballot

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democrats in Albany and other Upstate counties are working to help the Conservative Party get on the state election ballot this fall, the Knickerbocker News said today.

The newspaper said it had learned that Democrats were passing nominating petitions for the Conservatives' statewide candidates and explaining to fellow Democrats that signatures would help cut into the Republican vote if the new party could get on the ballot.

Democratic and Conservative leaders denied that any private agreement had been worked out for Democratic aid to the Conservative effort.

The new party must obtain the signatures of 12,000 qualified voters, including at least 50 in each county, to place its candidates on the ballot. Conservatives have said they expect they will get most of their votes in November from conservative - minded Republicans.

Goldwater Urges Blockade of Cuba

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today a selective blockade by the United States and friendly Latin-American countries should be the next step in the Cuban situation.

Goldwater's comment on blocking any foreign ships carrying Soviet equipment to Cuba came at a press conference preceding a meeting with Richmond area Republicans.

"Every place I travel, Cuba is the No. 1 issue," he said. "The American people are miles ahead of their government as to what should be done. I can tell the President that the American people would like to liberate the people of Cuba and remove the threat of communism from the Western Hemisphere."

Goldwater told a newsman he does not see any valid reason for the President's asking for standby power to call up 150,000 military Reserves.

The Arizona senator said President Kennedy would have been better off by asking for authority for an unlimited callup.

"I can't imagine that 150,000 men are going to scare the hell out of Soviet Premier Khrushchev," said Goldwater.

If the President had asked for authority to call up half a million men that would have had a psychological or diplomatic effect, Goldwater added.

Goldwater said there is apprehension through the country as to what will happen if Cuba is used as an arms warehouse to supply Communists in Latin - American countries and isolate America.

He said there is only one way in which an all-out war could come "and that is for the United States to keep backing away from areas of trouble."

Peace can be maintained only by this nation's demonstrating to Khrushchev that it is not going to be pushed around and that it does not like shipment of equipment to Cuba, Goldwater added.

"We should tell him in no uncertain terms: 'You stop it or we're going to stop you from bringing it in.'"

Says Many Are Ashamed to Ask For Relief Help

NEW YORK (AP)—A labor union spokesman said today most workers who need relief because of unemployment are ashamed to apply.

The spokesman, Leo Perlis, director of AFL-CIO community service activities, testified at a Moreland Commission hearing into the state's public welfare program.

Perlis branded as myths the idea that people prefer relief to working, and the impression that everybody can be self-reliant.

The witness also urged appointment of a commissioner of social welfare directly responsible to the governor, instead of the present setup where the State Board of Social Welfare selects the commissioner.

He suggested an advisory council instead of the state board to aid the commissioner.

Wednesday, Newburgh City Manager Joseph M. Mitchell said that if the administration of welfare programs is assigned to local governments "the major problems. . .will disappear overnight."

Mitchell, author of the controversial Newburgh welfare program, said the New York program should be "thoroughly re-evaluated, reexamined and reshaped."

BIGGEST REACH

99 Million Consumers Read a Daily Newspaper Each Weekday

These readers make up the largest audience available to any advertiser in any medium. A recent study* of this national newspaper audience shows that it includes 80 per cent of all men and women over 21...and 72 per cent of all teen-agers, age 15 and over. This huge and consistent readership can be depended upon by advertisers because the daily newspaper is a habit with most people...an established part of their everyday lives. For the national advertiser, this amounts to almost the total market for any product. For the local advertiser, this massive readership symbolizes the local reach of his own local newspaper—into almost 9 out of 10 homes every day. No matter what the product or service an advertiser wants to sell, more people can read about it in the pages of the daily newspaper.

Guard Champion Of 30s Critical, Falls From Tree

Charles Melvin, 53, of 22 Stuyvesant Street, who fought as a bantamweight in the National Guard circuit of the 1930's, injured in a fall from a ladder Wednesday night, was reported in critical condition today at Kingston Hospital.

Melvin, who as Charlie Molvin, became area National Guard bantamweight champion, fell some 30 feet as he was trimming a tree at the Stuyvesant Street address. He is under treatment for multiple injuries including involvement of the chest, ribs and face.

Police were notified of the mishap at 9:22 p. m. by Lawrence Levine, of the same address. Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw with officers Meyer Levy and Harry Short were dispatched to the house. Melvin was taken to the hospital in a Fatum ambulance.

Police were told that he had fallen apparently after the 40-foot ladder on which he had been working, slipped and caused him to lose footing. A deep cheek laceration indicated that he had hit a limb as he fell.

Melvin, fighting as a member of the 156th Field Artillery at that time, which was a horse-drawn military organization, was popular at the armory, now the Kingston Municipal Auditorium. His series here with Kid Rash and Tommy Aboba and victories over other bantams around the state made him the champion of his class.

Not in Love With Wall

BERLIN (AP) — East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht says his regime is not "in love" with the wall it has built dividing Berlin.

In a speech to a weekend labor conference in Leipzig, published today, Ulbricht told delegates attending from West Germany:

"The wall will stand until you have reined in the militarists. So it depends on you. No one should think we are in love with the wall. That is not the case."

Expect JFK . . .

President Kennedy to call up 150,000 members of the ready reserves without a declaration of a national emergency. Under present law, the President can mobilize up to 1 million members of the ready reserve if he declares an emergency.

Administration sources said the request for the authority was prompted by the international situation without singling out specific areas.

But indications were that the President was more concerned with the Berlin situation than with the Communist flow of supplies and men to Cuba.

But it has been Cuba—and Soviet threats over the Communist outpost—that has attracted most of the fire in Congress.

Rusk Assures Committees

Wednesday Secretary of State Dean Rusk assured a joint session of the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services committees the administration would not tolerate having Cuba become a base for offensive action against the United States or any Western Hemisphere area.

On the House side today, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was scheduled to testify for the reserve measure before the Armed Services Committe. This groups recently criticized the Pentagon's handling of the call-up during last year's Berlin crisis.

On another front, a State Department spokesman said the United States is investigating a claim by an anti-Castro organization that it was responsible for a machinegun attack on three vessels in Cuban waters.

The organization calls itself Alpha 66 and says its headquarters are in Puerto Rico, a U.S. territory.

Opening of 9W of the lighting district, as can best be computed at this time, will be between $2.05 and $2.10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is considered a very low rate for a lighting district.

Talks About 9W Opening

The problem of the Route 9W intersection with Route 199 was called to the attention of the board by Cosmos Costello, proprietor of a motel in the area. He told the board closing of Route 9W during construction and condition of the detour had badly affected business in the area. He asked that the board act to have a speedy opening of the new pavement which is now laid.

A resolution was adopted by the board directing that the State Department of Public Works office in Poughkeepsie be contacted to ascertain why that part of 9W on which concrete has already been laid, cannot be opened to traffic so the present detour will not be required for through traffic, and to urge final completion of the job at an early date.

To Make Survey

The State Traffic Commission will be requested to make a survey of the Albany Avenue Extension, Neighborhood Road, East Chester Street Bypass area to ascertin if better traffic regulations can be worked out. Possible installation of lights at certain points, speed control and signs will be discussed.

A letter was received from the IBM plant manager suggesting that the Neighborhood Road rom 9-W west be named "Old Neighborhood Road," and that the section in front of the IBM plant from Boice's lane to the Neighborhood Road across the new arterial route and the present Lohmaier Lane be designed as the Neighborhood Road.

With completion of the arterial route, the Neighborhood Road from 9W West will deadend near the new arterial route overpass. The proposal would make the entire roadway from Boice's Lane north, including the new construction over the arterial route and Lohmaier Lane, all a part of the main Neighborhood Road.

The matter was referred to the town planning board which will meet with the town board to determine the matter.

Financing for a new truck authorized at the prior meeting will be done through a local bank at 3½ per cent interest over a five year period.

New Addition Planned

A representative of Varco Steel Buildings presented a proposal for a new 40 by 65 foot addition to the present highway building. This matter has been under consideration by the town for some time.

The proposal was for a steel pier and truss building, with steel enameled siding and roof with three-bay doors, including heat, insulation and total construction including slab. Final drawings will be prepared this week so that an approximate cost may be quoted. If the proposal is acceptible it will be put out on a bid basis.

The town board will meet on October 5 at 2 p. m. at Lake Katrine Grange Hall to receive from the town clerk detailed estimates submitted by the various departments for the 1963 budget.

At that session the board will prepare and approve a preliminary budget.

Existing restrictions on use of water in the Ulster Water District were discussed and it was decided to continue the restrictions for the present. There is sufficient water available for necessary use but the board asks caution. Since the restrictions were placed consumption has decreased by about one third. The daily consumption is about 150,000 gallons less than prior to the restrictions, Supervisor Banyo said.

Bodies Found in Fire Had Crushed Skulls

LAKE YAMANAKA, Japan (AP)—Firemen found the bodies of 10 persons with crushed skulls today in the smoking ruins of a partly burned mountain villa at this famed vacation spot 100 miles from Tokyo.

One police official said the dead, all adults, appeared to have been victims of a mass slaying.

Many foreigners vacation at Lake Yamanaka, but first reports said there was no indication that any foreigners were among the victims.

matter of fact

Statistics show the seriousness of juvenile delinquency. Cases of delinquency continued to rise last year, with the number of children involved standing at about 2 per cent of the entire child population, 3 per cent when traffic offenses are included. Studies carried out in several reasonably typical sections of the United States indicated that from 20 per cent to about one-third of the youngsters in areas studied came to the attention of the courts prior to their 18th birthday.

Bloomington Vols Meet Sept. 20 to Award Truck Pact

Herbert Faurote, chairman of the apparatus committee of Bloomington Fire Company, Inc., today announced that the special meeting of the organization scheduled for this evening has been postponed one week until next Thursday at 8 p. m.

At that time, it is expected that a final decision on a new piece of fire apparatus will result insofar as the committee will be able to present all facts and figures resulting from opening bids which were received a short time ago. It is further expected that a special manufacturer will be chosen following a vote by the membership and that the contract will be signed for delivery of the new truck in the spring. Tentative plans call for a cab forward engine with a 750 gallon-per-minute pump and a 700-gallon capacity water tank.

The purchase of a new truck is only another step in the expansion program initiated by the company almost two years ago during which time an addition has been completed as well as numerous other programs being planned and started. Fred Sauer, the organization's president said, this current program is merely the beginning of a long range plan to give the best protection possible to the residents of Bloomington Fire Protection District.

In a reminder from Chief Oscar Hahn, all Bloomington and Rosendale Township firemen are urged to attend this Sunday's fire drill, the first in the new fall series sponsored by the volunteer Firemen's Association, Township of Rosendale. Sunday's drill will be conducted in Bloomington's District with Chief Hahn in charge of preparations for the company. The drill is scheduled for 2 p. m. and will be conducted in the usual manner as if an actual fire were in progress. Participating with Bloomington in Sunday's proceedings will be Rosendale, Binnewater, Cottekill, High Falls and Tillson.

LINKING EUROPE WITH ASIA—Within five years, two modern, all-weather highways will carry commercial and tourist traffic between Europe and Asia as far as Teheran. As shown on map, southern and northern routes will begin in European Turkey and cross into Iran, linking up major cities in both countries. The master plan is the result of co-operation between the two governments, with advice and assistance from the United Nations, International Road Federation as well as other international agencies.

You can add as much as one cup finely grated cheese to one cup thin or medium white sauce.

Squadron to Compete

STEWART AFB — The 356th Troop Carrier Squadron (Reserve) will enter a top-notch team in the U.S. Air Force's forthcoming Annual Troop Carrier Competition scheduled to take place at Ellington AFB, Houston, Texas, during the period September 16 through 19. This year, the competition has been scheduled as a special event of the celebration of the 15th Anniversary of the creation of the Air Force as a separate service. The competition, the sixth held to date, is another means by which the Air Force can evaluate the air drop proficiency, aircrew integrity, combat readiness, and aircraft maintenance quality of Reserve Troop Carrier Squadrons assigned to the Continental Air Command.

Crop Output Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department reported today the prospective production of eight vegetable crops grown for commercial processing is 11 per cent greater than last year and the largest since 1956.

These crops include lima beans, snap beans, beets, cabbage for kraut, sweet corn, green peas, winter and spring spinach and tomatoes. The combined production was forecast at 8,339,000 tons. The tomato production is expected to set a record high.

16 Are Seized In Game Raids

NEW YORK (AP)—More than a dozen persons were arrested Wednesday by federal agents in widely separated raids in New York State in a crackdown on gambling operators.

Similar raids were conducted at the same time throughout the nation.

In the New York raids, four men were seized in Albany, two in West Seneca, and at least 10 others were arrested in New York City and nearby Long Island.

Federal men are seeking gamblers who have failed to buy a $50 annual occupational tax stamp, pay a 10 per cent excise levy on their profits and a tax of $250 on each coin-operated gambling device.

Won't Act on Seat Belts

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Five Upstate colleges say they probably would not make seat belts a requirement for students to drive on campus as suggested by the state.

Officials at Syracuse and Colgate universities and Hamilton, Utica and Le Moyne colleges said Wednesday that enforcement would be difficult and further consideration of the matter was needed.

They said, however, that seat belts are a good safety device.

William S. Hults, state motor vehicle commissioner, had sent a letter to the schools suggesting that installation of belts be required before campus driving permits were issued.

Three New Troopers Assigned to Kingston

Three new troopers are on temporary assignment at Lake Katrine Barracks of Kingston State Police station.

They are Edward Zeboris of Binghamton; Vincent Tobia of Buffalo, and James Conrad of Bath.

7 Cheat Death In Mid-Air Crash

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — Seven men miraculously escaped death Wednesday when a giant Air Force cargo plane and a single-engine T34 trainer collided in mid-air some 20 miles north of the Olmsted Air Force Base.

"We're all lucky to be alive," said J. Walter Beck, civilian pilot of the trainer plane and one of the most seriously injured.

He and his passenger, Bob Mark, a photographer from Harrisburg, were admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital with deep gashes and face cuts.

Three engineers aboard the big craft—a twin-engine C46—bailed bailed out, but the pilot and co-pilot decided to fly back to the base.

Beck and Mark also stayed with their crippled plane despite their injuries.

The canopy covering the cockpit on the trainer was shattered in the crash and the canopy frame smashed almost flat against the fuselage.

Smooth Hovercraft Reduces Travel Time to 25 Minutes

By COLIN FROST

RHYL, Wales (AP)—From the inside it looked like a distorted airliner, much too wide for its length.

Twenty-four passengers sat in four rows of six. All plainly suffered from takeoff nerves.

The steward's voice came from the speaker system: "Welcome aboard the world's first Hovercoach service. In a few moments we shall be leaving for Wallasey. Your driver is Capt. Colquhoun—"

The engines revved up and the kids on the beach scattered. It wasn't raining but Les Colquhoun, 42, test pilot and wartime Royal Air Force hero, switched on his windshield wipers.

He eased back the yellow throttle handle. The hovercraft, an ugly roaring beetle contending for a transport revolution, lifted its 10 tons off the sand and slithered gently over the dunes toward the sea.

How It Works

The hovercraft was the VA3, one of a dozen under development here. It rides eight inches above land or sea on a cushion of air produced by two gas turbine engines. Two more engines drive rear-mounted propellers to move it forward.

A shower of spray whipped past the windows as the VA3 moved onto the surf and swished up to 50 miles per hour.

The noise was exactly that of a four-engine airliner. The motion was different.

Over the sand the ride was ice smooth.

Over the sea it developed a pitch, something like a plane in slight turbulence, punctuated by heavy jolts as big waves slapped up against the bow.

Even then no seat belts were needed. The passengers faced backwards. The jolts just shoved them deeper in their seats.

Colquhoun headed his craft along the coast and into open water. Wales slipped away and the English shore came through the spray.

Twenty-five minutes after leaving, the VA3 edged onto a concrete slipway at Wallasey, 17 miles across the Dee Estuary from Rhyl. By road it is 50 miles and 90 minutes.

The passengers trooped off, all feeling one-up on the watching crowds.

Two Cans for Model

Five years ago none of them had heard of a hovercraft, then little more than an idea in the brain of inventor Christopher Cockerell.

Cockerell built his first model from two food cans. He showed it to the government's military advisers who put it on the secret list and did nothing more. It took Cockerell a year to get the idea declassified and under government-financed development. Now four major companies are pushing it hard.

Two years ago a small hovercraft called the SRN1 went from France to England. Last July the VA3 started the Rhyl-Wallasey run, making eight return trips daily and always working at more than 90 per cent capacity.

The experiment — it is nothing more, not a serious transportation service — ends next week when Rhyl's holiday clients have returned to the factories of Manchester and the English Midlands.

Vandals Damage Kinderhook Home

State police at Claverack, Columbia County, investigating damage to an unoccupied homestead, estimated at thousands of dollars, described it as "the worst case of vandalism ever seen."

The damage at the homestead of the late John M. Rossman in the Town of Kinderhook includes broken glass, furniture and equipment which will run into the thousands, troopers said.

BCI Investigator Fred R. Potts of Philmont said every window in the house was broken and all light fixtures destroyed. Most of the furniture was damaged and holes ripped into the walls, he reported.

The vandalism was discovered when a Schodack Landing man, said to be interested in purchasing items at the place came upon the scene and notified state police.

Post 20 Holds Court of Honor

The presentation of two Eagle Scout awards featured the first Court of Honor of Post 20, sponsored by Hurley Lions Club this week. The court was held in coordination with Troop 20 of Hurley.

Receiving the awards were John Henze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Henze and Robert Schmidt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmidt.

Clement I. Angstrom introduced the award winners and presented a review of each scout's life as he earned each rank en route to the Eagle award. Both young Henze and Schmidt were under James Roosa's leadership in Troop 20 and have continued their interest in scouting as members of Post 20 with Robert Schmidt as the Post advisor.

The Court of Honor ceremony was held in the auditorium of Hurley Reformed Church.

Louis Gerbon represented Rip Van Winkle Council by presenting Post 20's first charter to Oliver Tweedy, institutional representative who in turn gave the charter to Harry Beatty, committee chairman.

Scoutmaster Roosa, with the assistance of Richard Baker, assistant scoutmaster, introduced the Troop 20 Drum and Bugle Corps. They exhibited their training by being a featured part of the night's program.

Awards presented during the program included service stars to Bob Schmidt Jr., James Tweedy, Alan Petersen, Jim Barnett and John Henze. Merit badges were awarded to Greg Hofler, John Tweedy and Joel Tomson. The Scout of the Year award was presented to Vaughn Askue by Scoutmaster Roosa. Recognition of rank advancement was given to Don Markle for receiving second class and Greg Hofler, life scout.

Mrs. William Askue and Mrs. Oliver Tweedy, with their committees, served refreshments.

New Help for Inmates

DANNEMORA, N.Y. (AP)—The hospital at Clinton Prison here will open a plastic surgery center next month for the benefit of inmates, the head surgeon reports.

Dr. Edwin M. Jameson said Wednesday night that 26 prisoners had already requested surgery at the center.

Defects or deformities are a dominant cause of crime, he said, in 6 to 8 per cent of criminals.

"Correction of defects can strikingly influence inmate conduct both behind prison walls and upon the prisoner's restoration to society," the doctor said.

To Rule on Legality

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Supreme Court may hand down a decision sometime around Sept. 24 on the legality of a grand jury investigation of city hall after hearing the case Wednesday in a special session marked by clashes of three justices.

Sources close to the high court reported after the five-hour session that a final decision probably would not be handed down much before Sept. 24, the date the court convenes in Pittsburgh for its first fall session.

Equal Rights Still U. S. Problem: Rocky

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller calls the struggle for equal rights "the great unfinished business before the American people."

He says the United States is still a long way from making human freedom a living reality for every American.

The dinner was sponsored by the New York State Civil War Centennial Commission.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, also spoke.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is good and improving. Or business isn't good enough and that spells trouble. It all depends on your point of view.

About all that everyone has to admit is that, over all, conditions aren't bad at all and that a lot of people did a lot of unnecessary worrying.

Figures Don't Tell All

The end-of-summer figures popping up almost daily aren't too much help, because either side can quote them to bolster its point. But some of the figures are a surprise, such as the improvement in manufacturers' profits.

Most of the statistics show business improving. And yet most of them fall short of earlier hopes expressed in official quarters.

That's the rub. This falling short has caused much of the queasiness in the stock market, uncertainty in corporate boardrooms, and consumer perplexity.

Yet the figures show personal incomes are higher, profits have increased, jobs are at a record high and retail sales are up.

Plans for the fall season are mostly on the optimistic side. Expansion and modernization programs are being announced with fair regularity, and some by industries that only a few weeks back were complaining the most of slack times, the profit squeeze, foreign competition, and poor prospects.

Second Best Ever

Profits after taxes of manufacturing companies in the second quarter were the second best on record, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission reports. At $4.6 billion they were up 16 per cent from the first quarter and surpassed only by the $4.9 billion in 1959's second quarter.

The same reports puts manufacturing sales at a record $99.1 billion, up 7 per cent from the first quarter. Business leaders, however, stress that while sales hit a peak, profits were only second best. But the fact that they rose sharply from the first quarter surprised many who had been forecasting doom.

Profits before taxes of all corporations, including the manufacturing segment, hit an annual rate of $50.9 billion in the second quarter, some $800 million higher than in the first quarter. The record was set in the second quarter of 1959 at $51.5 billion.

win announcing these figures the Department of Commerce noted that the second quarter gain this year still left profits far short of the $56.5 billion goal which official Washington had set in January. The shortness has hurt business confidence, and also U.S. Treasury expectations of corporate income tax collections.

The Labor Department reports that nonfarm jobs rose 225,000 in August to a record of 55,744,000. But again the rise was short of expectations. This was due in part to layoffs in the auto industry for model changeovers.

Factory work weeks averaged out to 40.4 hours. But seasonally adjusted this was six-tenths of an hour less than in April.

Still the total of wage and salary incomes rose $300 million in August, and other categories added $600 million, to bring the annual rate to $442.8 billion, a record.

All of this adds up to prosperity. But important voices say it isn't prosperity enough.

One is the administration, which wants its January goals reached—sometime, if belatedly.

Another is organized labor, which says the unemployment rate of more than 5 per cent of the labor force is intolerable. It wants the standard work week dropped from 40 hours to 35, saying this would mean more jobs.

Emergency Squad Is Planned By Woodstock Fire Co. No. 1

Formation of an emergency squad which will receive special instruction to cope with emergency situations was announced at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1.

Fire Chief George Haythorne said the volunteer firemen, in addition to regular duties, would be instructed in the use and operation of the resuscitator, inhalator and other apparatus and appurtenances carried by the emergency truck.

The purpose for forming this squad, the chief said, is to further improve the emergency services furnished by the company. Should an emergency now arise, there will be available more members who have been instructed on the use of the equipment carried by the emergency truck. This will make for a better all-round operation by the company, he said.

Plan Essay Contest

The company voted to continue to sponsor an essay contest among the pupils of the Woodstock elementary school during National Fire Prevention Week. Further details will be announced later.

Chief Haythorne reported 13 fire calls during the month of August. The breakdown was: one mutual aid call, one building fire, five brush fires, three car fires, one short circuit in electric wiring and two emergency calls for the resuscitator.

The chairman of the annual picnic held at Woodstock Estates reported that there were about 150 in attendance at the affair. Some families of the members of companies No. 2, 3 and 4 also attended, making the picnic a sort of get-together for the Woodstock fire department personnel.

Chief Haythorne announced that there would be a fire drill by the four companies at Cooper Lake on Sept. 23.

Three new members were elected to the company—Lloyd Allen Lund, Jack Rupert and James Monroe Longendyke.

Little League Slates Father-Son Sunday

The Woodstock Little League will hold its annual Father and Son game Sunday, Sept. 16, at 2 p. m. at Andy Lee Memorial Field.

Free refreshments will be served to all. The public is cordially invited to attend this exciting event.

Opera Benefit in Kingston Is Goal of Turnau Friends

A unique "opera with orchestra" benefit in the spring of 1963 is another major goal of the recently-formed Friends of the Turnau Opera Association in Woodstock.

At a recent meeting the executive committee of the newly-formed association announced plans for the benefit which will raise additional funds so that the Turnau Opera Company may continue in Woodstock, extend its short season and perhaps expand its seating capacity at the Byrdcliffe Theatre.

The benefit will feature members of the company supported by musicians from the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and may possibly cover two evenings at a theatre in Kingston. The exact place and the works to be performed will be announced at a later date. Such a presentation would be a rare, even unheard of event in the area.

Intensive Drive

The Turnau Friends, whose main function is to gain support, financial and otherwise, for the opera company, will continue throughout the coming year an intensive membership drive to enlist new members to save opera in Woodstock. Anyone can become a member by subscribing $5 or more. The subscription, in any amount, is tax deductible, prestigious, and will help insure the Turnau's becoming a secure, permanent company in residence which will carry the Woodstock and Catskill area cultural banner to all parts of the nation.

The Turnau Friends wish to stress that extending the season or increasing the seating will in no way change the essential character of Turnau where opera is sung in English, intimately produced and performed and where the artists' musical abilities are matched by their histrionic talents and personal appeal.

Seek Foundation Aid

As part of the membership drive new "Friends" will be enlisted from every locality and background. A real attempt will be made to obtain aid from a national or state foundation, but it must be emphasized that such aid is more likely to come, if a strong, vital membership drive is achieved.

All opera companies lose money, but most have foundations or guilds to aid in overcoming these deficits, a Friends statement says. Turnau has such a group and all who are interested in the goals of the Friends and want to be counted in their number are asked to communicate with Manuel Bromberg, Woodstock, chairman of the membership committee, by mail or phone. Figaro, says the statement, is well worth a tax reduction.

Topnotch Judge For Horse Show

The Woodstock Riding Club has obtained the services of Pete Wood of Gansevoort, N. Y., one of the outstanding judges of the area, to judge the horse show planned for Sunday, Sept. 16.

The show will be held at the club grounds on Ohayo Mountain and will start promptly at 9:30 a. m. The classes will be divided between Western, English and game type events.

One of the events will be the popular Clover Leaf Barrel race. A number of entries have already been received. This timed event will prove to be a real thriller. The public is invited to attend.

Sonia Malkine Makes Rapid Strides as Lute Virtuoso

The lute is a string instrument cloaked in antiquity. Of Oriental origin, it was extremely popular in Europe from the 14th to the 17th century then faded unobtrusively from the musical scene.

Responding to the talented fingers of Sonia Malkine of Shady, it became an instrument of rare tonal beauty. No wonder it was the favorite vehicle of the Renaissance troubadours.

It could be said that the attractive, dark-haired mother of three children and wife of a gifted artist was born to play the lute. And the melodic beauty she can elicit from the instrument will be one of the highlights of the First Annual Woodstock Folk Festival which opens Friday night at Woodstock Estates.

A native of Paris, France, Mrs. Malkine and her artist husband, George Malkine, a talented native drum player in his own right, have been living in Shady the past 10 years. They came to Woodstock from New York City, where Sonia played and sang ballads and folksongs in Greenwich Village and was featured soloist at a popular spot known as "The Bitter End."

A self-taught lutist, Mrs. Malkine has made remarkable progress in four years to gain recognition as one of the outstanding musical personalities in the Woodstock area.

In Paris she sang with a chorus directed by the noted Paul Arma, outstanding French folklorist, and also recorded folk songs in French. Mr. and Mrs. Malkine came to the United States in 1948 and settled in New York City.

Sonia has appeared in many area concerts as soloist and in ensemble. She made two appearances at Vassar College and participated in three March of Dimes programs in Kingston. For 15 months, she conducted her own radio program on Station WKNY, consisting of recordings, interviews, commentaries and singing in three languages — French, English and Spanish.

She also was a regular on a program conducted by Oscar Brand on Station WNYC in New York City which featured French and English ballads. Other appearances included the Colony Arts Center in Woodstock and the Hootenanny staged in Woodstock in June of this year.

Musical Family

The gift of music runs through the Malkine family. They have four children—Monelle, 15, and Jilles, 13, both accomplished guitarists; Fern, 12, and Shayan, 10, harmony singers. Jilles has also launched an acting career and has appeared in Woodstock Playhouse casts the past two years. The entire family is tentatively scheduled to appear in the festival this weekend.

Mrs. Malkine has great faith in the future of folksinging. She says there is a definite trend and it will replace the other types of native music culture in the future. She would like to sing professionally and is taking the first steps in that direction with concerts in New York City and Canada, where her Parisienne style should make her a big favorite this winter.

Committee Says Name Is Usurped

An anonymous communication to area newspapers and radio stations by an organization calling itself the Onteora Committee for Better Education has brought a quick rebuttal from Richard O. Langham of Woodstock.

Langham says an Onteora Committee for Better Education has been in existence for a year and a half and disclaims any knowledge of the origin of the anonymous press release.

In his statement, Langham said:

"It has come to our attention that an anonymous group, using the name of the Onteora Committee for Better Education, has been issuing statements to the press and radio stations.

"As chairman of the Onteora Committee for Better Education, which has been in existence for 1½ years, I wish to protest most strongly the unauthorized use of our name. While I am sure that as a reputable news medium you do not wish to publish material sent to you anonymously, we strongly object to this blatant attempt to mislead the taxpayers of the district by this misuse of our name and we will take every possible step to prevent further endeavors to becloud local issues by such questionable methods."

Is Group Chairman

Langham has served as chairman of the committee which originated in Woodstock, since its organization. Mrs. Gordon Andersen is the committee secretary. The committee was organized to promote passage of school bond issues.

Meanwhile, it develops that the Onteora Citizens Committee is a distinctly separate group with the same goals. The citizens group is headed by Robert Nussbaum as chairman; Martin Rubin of Phoenicia, organizational chairman; Mrs. Andersen and Mrs. Audrey Bagnall, co-chairmen of the organization subcommittee. Ted Godard is a member of the finance committee. Handling publicity for the citizens group are Richard Langham, David Fox and William Landesman, as co-chairman. These committee chairmen form the steering committee.

As for the new so-called Onteora Committee for Better Education, its usurpation of a name has been exposed. It's identity remains . . . anonymous.

Receive First Money Gifts for Youth Center

The first gifts of money to support the Woodstock Youth Center have been received by the chairmen of the fund-raising campaign, Mrs. Benjamin Webster and Mrs. Edmund Gilligan. They were the signers of a letter recently sent out to residents of Woodstock township.

The letter explained that the sum of $4,250 was required to pay the rent and other expenses of the headquarters for the teenagers, where they may find recreation under suitable circumstances. A professional director has been engaged to operate the center. Last year, a very successful first one for the center, the work of supervising and directing was done by volunteers.

The success of the center last year was indicated by the enthusiasm of the boys and girls, who themselves raised $500 by their dances, a carnival and by sales from the soft drink stand and juke box which they sustained.

According to present plans the center will open on Oct. 1 in the building used last year. It is the old schoolhouse located in the rear of the Grand Union market in Woodstock village.

Violin-Piano Recital Proves Fitting Finale

Instead of the announced post-seasonal violin-piano recital by William Kroll and Grant Johannesen, who could not appear, Nathan Goldstein, young Israeli-born violinist and David Garvey, a pianist, played the replacement concert last Sunday at Maverick Hall. And this on very short notice.

The program consisted of the Sonata in D by Vivaldi, arranged by Respighi; Sonatina No. 1 by Schubert; the frequently performed Sonata by Cesar Franck and three solo violin numbers: Oriental Chant by Edward Kra-kauer; Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso by Saint-Saens and the six Rumanian dances by Bartok, arranged by Szekely.

Goldstein revealed himself as an intense, serious musician, whose refined, polished tone, fine technique and impeccable intonation equips him to meet the highest demands of a first rate virtuoso. Garvey, his sympathetic partner, is a pianist of equal stature. His contribution of the necessary blending, subdued color and phrasing enabled the team to maintain in every moment a fine balance. It is regrettable that the program included 3 virtuoso numbers by Krakauer, Saint-Saens and Bartok, for to this listener they seemed out of place. Why cast a

Moon Goal by 1970, Is Kennedy Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has returned from a two-day tour of major space installations, determined the United States will be first in space and have a man on the moon by 1970.

The President also made clear during the exhaustive inspection tour ending late Wednesday at the McDonnell Aircraft plant in St. Louis, that he intends to press his challenge to Russia to reserve outer space for peaceful purposes.

At the plant Kennedy got a close-up view of the work being done on Gemini spacecraft designed to orbit two men up to two weeks in space in another year or so.

Possibly the highlight of the came earlier in the day at Houston where five of the seven astronauts, along with scientists, briefed him on the spaceships designed to take an American to the moon and back. He chose the city, site of the manned spacecraft center, for his only formal speech.

It is estimated that 114 billion gallons of water flow through the Detroit River daily.

Air Crash Kills Nine Reservists

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP)— A Navy P2V Neptune patrol bomber skimmed over rooftops of a heavily populated residential area Wednesday night, then crashed in flames at the naval ammunition and net depot here. The Navy said all nine aboard were killed.

The dead were reservists from Georgia, the Navy said. Identification was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The plane took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, about three miles north of the depot, and crashed a short time later in a vacant field used for storing empty ammunition crates some distance from ammunition deposits.

Several witnesses said they saw the plane, trailing a long ribbon of flame, veer to the northeast in what appeared to be an attempt by the pilot to keep aloft until the bomber cleared the residential area.

The depot at Seal Beach, 28 miles southeast of Los Angeles, replenishes the fleet stationed at the Southern California bases of San Diego and Long Beach. The ammunition is kept underground.

Army Raises Standards

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is ordering its reserve and National Guard to apply stiffer mental requirements for new recruits.

This will bring reserve-guard standards in line with higher qualifications maintained by the Army. Planning for this move has been under way for about two years.

Army officials said it has no direct connection with plans to streamline the guard and reserve for a more effective response to crises such as Berlin.

British Cabinet Huddles

LONDON (AP) — The British cabinet met today to discuss the general Commonwealth assault on Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan conspicuously stayed away from the meeting.

Macmillan apparently absented himself from the cabinet session because he was anxious to continue a round of informal talks with Commonwealth premiers and anxious to avoid creating an impression of emergency in the midst of the summit conference of 16 Commonwealth countries.

7,200 Eggs Hijacked

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's a story of a chick who lost 7,200 eggs.

The desk officer at a Manhattan police station perked up a bit Wednesday when a honey-haired blonde with sparkling blue eyes—trim even in dungarees and plaid blouse—strode in. He perked up even more when she told him:

"I'm a truck driver. I just came into this town from Iowa and somebody hijacked a cargo of eggs off my truck."

The 5-foot-5, 115-pound beauty IS a truck driver. She helps her dad drive a 50-foot, 15-ton refrigerated tractor trailer over the country carting fruit, vegetables and eggs.

County Allotted $24,352 Share of Motor Vehicle Tax

Ulster County will receive $24,352.24 as its share of the distribution of $2,394,605.77 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the counties of the state and to New York City, it was announced today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt. New York City's share is $764,931.53.

The allotment to Ulster County is $3,729.62 less than the corresponding quarter ending June 30, 1961 when Ulster received $28,081.86.

This total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending June 30, 1962, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to the City of New York is to be credited to the city's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the Treasurer of the City of New York.

Petitions Continue For Bridge, City Council Praised

Petitions for putting up of a temporary vehiculer bridge over the Esopus Creek to connect Route 28 and Washington Avenue will continue to be circulated, Robert Teetsel, chairman of the Citizens Temporary Bridge Committee, announced today. A meeting of the committee will be held at the Barn Monday at 7:30 p. m. to review and count the petitions and to plan future action.

Teetsel also expressed pleasure over the action taken by the Common Council Tuesday evening when it voted not to condemn the Washington Avenue Viaduct.

"We are very happy over the way the Common Council handled the matter and we will continue to seek signatures to petitions which call for immediate construction of a temporary vehicular bridge over the Esopus," Teetsel said.

"It is the ultimate objective of the committee to secure a vehicular bridge so that the business area affected by the collapse of the bridge over the Esopus Creek last August 28, can again be reached by direct traffic," Teetsel continued.

All members of the committee attended the Tuesday evening session of the Common Council, Chairman Teetsel said. He reiterated the policy of the committee to continue to seek signatures to the petitions and to press for a temporary bridge at the site of the old structure.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Housewives disturbed by erratic red meat prices at supermarkets this weekend may well cry fowl. Such as turkeys, broiler-fryers or baking hens.

Poultry continues very reasonable in price.

Red Meats Higher

Red meat prices are higher in many places this weekend, though some large chains report no appreciable change and several items of meats are cheaper than in previous weeks.

A national chain is offering smoked hams at 29 cents a pound (shank portion) in its metropolitan New York outlets.

Also featured by a big chain is veal, with leg and rump selling at 49 cents a pound and boneless veal shoulder pegged at 69 cents.

Bacon, sausage, franks, bologna and pork butts and lamb legs and shoulders are among the meat items that have been least affected by recent price rises.

Beef and Pork increases have been laid in part to market withholding by the National Farmers Organization and also to seasonal factors.

Vegetable Features

Vegetable features include beets, green onions, tomatoes, sweet corn, brussels sprouts, cabbage, eggplant, broccoli, peas and spinach. Pumpkin is becoming plentiful on the west coast. Cooler weather has reduced lettuce and green bean supplies in some places.

Fruit features include apples, honeydew melons, plums, cantaloup and nectarines. The season is starting to peak out for the peaches.

More Involved Than in Estes Affair

Driller of Slanted Wells Tells How Oil Is Stolen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Whipstock Bill James sat in the sweatbox of a courtroom. He looked worried but somehow he didn't seem to share the gloom of the others there.

There was a somberly intent expression in Whipstock Bill's face, weathered by 45 years in the blistering sun, the rain and the cold of the oil fields.

His main concern appeared to be telling — in terms a layman could understand — how to sink a particular kind of oil well.

Bill is — or was — a driller hired to thrust holes in the ground at slant.

The frequent application of his skilled hands and others who know his trade set off one of the new, great scandals in Texas.

It involves more people than the Billie Sol Estes affair did.

It is called slant-hole drilling, or crooked well drilling, or deviated drilling.

$10 Million in Year

A crooked well is drilled so it will bottom under another oilman's lease. Thus the slant well owner can steal his neighbor's oil.

Authorities claim oil worth $10 million a year is stolen this way.

The state says it has found more than 125 illegally drilled wells. Sixty four were junked by the operators before crews could test them.

Whipstock Bill testified there may be as many as 300 to 350 crooked wells in the East Texas field alone.

Asked how many he had drilled, he first said: "Whew. God only knows." Later he estimated 100.

Whipstock Bill said a driller with the proper skills can drill to beneath a point three-quarters of a mile away and not miss his mark a degree.

The driller gained his name from a device called a whipstock.

As Bill described the whipstock, it is a piece of pipe placed in the well. Its top is slanted at a pre-determined angle.

Thus when a drilling bit is rotated in the well, the whipstock nudges the bit a little to one side, slanting the hole.

Whipstock testified in Dallas before a Texas House investigating committee.

Committee counsel David Witts explained that Whipstock Bill merely did the jobs laid out for him by others.

Gloom clouded numerous faces in the hearing room because the state accuses many of pumping oil from slated wells.

The Texas Railroad Commission which regulates oil production, has ordered all wells on leases containing even one illegally slanted well cut off from pipelines. This means the oilmen have no way to market even legally pumped oil. Nearly 600 wells were cut off at one time for this reason, although a few connections have since been restored.

Charge Ex-Mayor Failed to Note Gifts From Firms

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — William F. Ott, who resigned two months ago as mayor of the nearby village of Johnson City, faces prosecution on a charge that he failed to report $450 in political contributions from firms doing business with the village.

A county grand jury said Wednesday that Ott received the money last year but did not list it in his report of campaign expenses that was filed with the county board of elections.

The jury recommended prosecution. Dist. Atty. Stephen Smyk said he would file a charge in Johnson City Police Court Monday.

Ott, a 52-year-old Republican, had been mayor since 1957. He was elected to another two-year term last November but resigned July 2, giving ill health as the reason.

Failure to report political contributions is a misdemeanor. The maximum penalty is a $500 fine and a year in jail.

The grand-jury action followed an inquiry begun last June by the State Investigation Commission, which questioned village officials, contractors and other persons who had done business with the village. Its findings were turned over to Smyk.

The Investigation Commission said it had acted as a result of a nine-part complaint from a person the commission did not identify.

Smyk said Wednesday that "several charges (in the complaint) were without real merit and appeared to stem from animosity and vindictiveness."

Savings Banks Report Record Deposit Gains

NEW YORK, Sept. 13—Record deposit gains of $2.2 billion in the nation's mutual savings banks were reported today for the 12-month period ended June 30, 1962. The increase, the highest for any June-to-June period on record, brought total deposits to $39.6 billion.

A record amount, $2.6 billion, was added to savings bank mortgage portfolios, bringing total holdings to $30.4 billion. Data upon which these gains are noted is contained in the 1962-63 edition of the Directory and Guide to the Mutual Savings Banks of the United States, issued today by the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks.

During the same period, assets rose $2.6 billion. Average interest rate per bank paid on savings accounts increased from $1,654 to $1,756. The number of savings bank branch offices increased from 506 to 558, while the number of individual institutions declined from 515 to 513. Although the Alaska Mutual Savings Bank opened in Anchorage last December, three savings bank mergers in Massachusetts reduced the total number of savings banks.

On Eve of State Campaign

Division Evident In Both Parties

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Divisions persist in the Republican and Democratic state organizations on the eve of a new state election campaign despite continuing declarations of unity by the leaders.

The more serious troubles exist among the Democrats, whose factional quarrels are still raging only four days before the state nominating convention.

Among Republicans, conservative elements are not fully reconciled to Gov. Rockefeller, although the Upstate GOP does not seem quite as upset over his liberal tendencies and big-spending programs as it did four years ago.

Changes Cause Grumbling

While the grumbling among GOP conservatives is directed at specific programs, the basic disagreement is over Rockefeller's continuing effort to direct the party's energies and resources toward dealing with big-city problems.

The traditional strength of Republicanism has been in the smaller communities and rural areas of Upstate and Long Island. The historic changes envisioned by the governor are bound to evoke disagreement.

There was a time when rural Republicans considered big cities as cauldrons of government corruption, foreign ideologies, snares for innocent youth and, in general, something to be avoided.

Time has tempered this view considerably but it is still common to hear a veteran Upstate legislator begin a discussion of New York City by remarking that "well, those people down there are different..."

Dems' Unity a Fixture

The Democratic division, which has several offshoots, apparently is becoming a fixture on the state political scene.

In New York City, the party stronghold, a fight between regulars and insurgents has been waging for four years.

It continued through the 1960 presidential elections and intensified last year when President Kennedy got behind efforts to oust the oldline leadership.

The battling stemmed from the fact the old-line leaders, after various political maneuvers over the years, had been labeled as "bosses" by insurgents and Republicans, and were considered liabilities to the party.

Those removed from party control included Carmine G. DeSapio, who had been leader of Tammany Hall.

To a lesser extent than the Republicans, the Democrats also have their Upstate - downstate split.

The Upstate Democrats feel that too much control is in the hands of the New York City leaders and that party positions in the Legislature and elsewhere reflect the needs of and concerns of New York City almost exclusively.

The Upstate leaders have recommended they be given a greater voice in party affairs to improve Democratic fortunes in the Upstate areas.

LEMON BUTTER sauce dresses poached eggs and peas for their appearance as a delicious new dish on your table.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Eggs and Peas Are a Different Dish

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for an easy to prepare, slightly different and very nutritious supper dish? Then try this combination of poached eggs and peas with lemon butter sauce. With it, serve crisp bacon or frizzled ham and frozen French fries. How does it sound to you?

Poached Eggs and Peas With Lemon Butter Sauce
(Yield: 6 Servings)

Sauce: ⅓ cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 cup milk or half and half (milk and cream), 1 egg, beaten, 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Peas and Eggs: 2 packages (10-ounces each) frozen peas, partially defrosted and broken apart; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon marjoram, 6 poached eggs, toast points.

Make sauce. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; blend in flour, salt and paprika. Add milk or half and half and place over low heat to cook, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add small amount of hot mixture to egg, beating constantly during addition. Add egg to hot mixture; place over very low heat and heat, about 3 minutes.

Stir in lemon juice and remaining butter or maragarine, a small amount at a time, stirring well after each addition. Prepare peas and eggs. Combine peas, butter or margarine, water, salt and marjoram in saucepan. Cook slowly until peas are tender, about 5 minutes.

Pour peas into heated serving dish, making indentations for eggs. Arrange eggs on peas and stand toast points upright around peas. Spoon sauce over eggs and peas. Serve on toast points, if desired. Serve with crisp bacon or frizzled ham.

Compromise Sent For Senate Vote On Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday a compromise appropriations bill for military construction. The bill appropriates $1,319,114,500.

The total is $275,615,000 less than President Kennedy requested and also is less than the original voted by either the House or the Senate.

The bill includes $1,545,000 for the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., $348,000 for Hancock Field in Syracuse, and $145,000 for Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome, N.Y.

The West Point funds include $200,000 for tennis courts and athletic fields, which had been criticized in the House.

The administration had sought $1,652,000 for construction at the academy — including 24 tennis courts and 2 athletic fields—but the House said the tennis courts and athletic fields must go. It cut the amount to $1,345,000, eliminating the $307,000 for the athletic facilities.

The Senate approved $1,595,000 for West Point, including $250,000 for the fennis courts and athletic fields.

The conferees split the difference at $200,000. An aide said tennis courts — he didn't say how many — will be built with the money.

Most of the remaining money will be used to modernize utilities at the government-owned Thayer Hotel at West Point.

Loan for Ramapo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced Tuesday approval of a $186,468 interest-free loan to the Town of Ramapo, Rockland County, N.Y.

The money will be used to finance final planning of sewer facilities expected to cost about $5,575,000.

Troop 34 of Woodstock placed second, followed by Troop 60 of Phoenicia. Also included in the competition were: Troop 163 of West Shokan, Troop 61 of Shandaken and Troop 66 of West Hurley.

Scoutmaster for Troop 63 is Robert Reynolds and the assistants are Thomas O'Brien and Albert Gander. The troop meets regularly at the American Legion hall in Shokan.

Members of the championship troop are: Paul Mushlit, Frank Mushlit, Brian Castle, Wesley Buley, John Gray, Bruce Gray, Stephen Thayer, Roy Olsen, Bruce Duffy, Roger DuBois and Stanley Witko.

On Shultis Property

The six-troop roundup was held on the property of Nelson Shultis, owner of the Wittenberg Lumber Co. on the weekend of Sept. 7, 8, 9. The competition consisted of the following events: signalling, knots and lashing, nature, first aid, compass, knife and axe, fire building by flint and steel, and physical fitness. A major portion of the final score was derived from the continuous campsite inspections.

Saturday's highlight was the evening campfire in which all troops participated to the enjoyment of many parents and visitors. At Sunday's closing ceremony all troops were awarded branding irons with their troop numbers. All future as well as present winners will brand their number on the prize trophy.

The commissioner's staff noted the fine display of scouting skills and spirit, as well as the closeness of the competitive scores with much favorable comment.

Milton Complaint To USDA Means Loss of License

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today that A. D. Dino of Providence, R. I., has failed to pay a reparation award issued under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act. Consequently, his PACA license was suspended at the close of business on September 6.

J. J. Kaley of Milton, N. Y., complained to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service that Dino had failed to pay $206 for a load of apples purchased in interstate commerce. Dino failed to answer the complaint, and USDA ordered payment of the full amount, plus interest, through default proceedings.

A. D. Dino cannot engage in business subject to the Act until the reparation is satisfied and the license suspension is lifted.

The Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act establishes a code of good business conduct for the produce industry. As a means of enforcing that code it requires that interstate traders in fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables be licensed. The law authorizes USDA to suspend or revoke a trader's license for violating the act.

On Eve of State Campaign

Division Evident In Both Parties

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Divisions persist in the Republican and Democratic state organizations on the eve of a new state election campaign despite continuing declarations of unity by the leaders.

The more serious troubles exist among the Democrats, whose factional quarrels are still raging only four days before the state nominating convention.

Among Republicans, conservative elements are not fully reconciled to Gov. Rockefeller, although the Upstate GOP does not seem quite as upset over his liberal tendencies and big-spending programs as it did four years ago.

Changes Cause Grumbling

While the grumbling among GOP conservatives is directed at specific programs, the basic disagreement is over Rockefeller's continuing effort to direct the party's energies and resources toward dealing with big-city problems.

The traditional strength of Republicanism has been in the smaller communities and rural areas of Upstate and Long Island. The historic changes envisioned by the governor are bound to evoke disagreement.

There was a time when rural Republicans considered big cities as cauldrons of government corruption, foreign ideologies, snares for innocent youth and, in general, something to be avoided.

Time has tempered this view considerably but it is still common to hear a veteran Upstate legislator begin a discussion of New York City by remarking that "well, those people down there are different..."

Dems' Unity a Fixture

The Democratic division, which has several offshoots, apparently is becoming a fixture on the state political scene.

In New York City, the party stronghold, a fight between regulars and insurgents has been waging for four years.

It continued through the 1960 presidential elections and intensified last year when President Kennedy got behind efforts to oust the oldline leadership.

The battling stemmed from the fact the old-line leaders, after various political maneuvers over the years, had been labeled as "bosses" by insurgents and Republicans, and were considered liabilities to the party.

Those removed from party control included Carmine G. DeSapio, who had been leader of Tammany Hall.

To a lesser extent than the Republicans, the Democrats also have their Upstate - downstate split.

The Upstate Democrats feel that too much control is in the hands of the New York City leaders and that party positions in the Legislature and elsewhere reflect the needs of and concerns of New York City almost exclusively.

The Upstate leaders have recommended they be given a greater voice in party affairs to improve Democratic fortunes in the Upstate areas.

LEMON BUTTER sauce dresses poached eggs and peas for their appearance as a delicious new dish on your table.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Eggs and Peas Are a Different Dish

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for an easy to prepare, slightly different and very nutritious supper dish? Then try this combination of poached eggs and peas with lemon butter sauce. With it, serve crisp bacon or frizzled ham and frozen French fries. How does it sound to you?

Poached Eggs and Peas With Lemon Butter Sauce
(Yield: 6 Servings)

Sauce: ⅓ cup butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 1 cup milk or half and half (milk and cream), 1 egg, beaten, 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Peas and Eggs: 2 packages (10-ounces each) frozen peas, partially defrosted and broken apart; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon marjoram, 6 poached eggs, toast points.

Make sauce. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; blend in flour, salt and paprika. Add milk or half and half and place over low heat to cook, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add small amount of hot mixture to egg, beating constantly during addition. Add egg to hot mixture; place over very low heat and heat, about 3 minutes.

Stir in lemon juice and remaining butter or maragarine, a small amount at a time, stirring well after each addition. Prepare peas and eggs. Combine peas, butter or margarine, water, salt and marjoram in saucepan. Cook slowly until peas are tender, about 5 minutes.

Pour peas into heated serving dish, making indentations for eggs. Arrange eggs on peas and stand toast points upright around peas. Spoon sauce over eggs and peas. Serve on toast points, if desired. Serve with crisp bacon or frizzled ham.

Compromise Sent For Senate Vote On Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate Wednesday a compromise appropriations bill for military construction. The bill appropriates $1,319,114,500.

The total is $275,615,000 less than President Kennedy requested and also is less than the original voted by either the House or the Senate.

The bill includes $1,545,000 for the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., $348,000 for Hancock Field in Syracuse, and $145,000 for Griffiss Air Force Base at Rome, N.Y.

The West Point funds include $200,000 for tennis courts and athletic fields, which had been criticized in the House.

The administration had sought $1,652,000 for construction at the academy — including 24 tennis courts and 2 athletic fields—but the House said the tennis courts and athletic fields must go. It cut the amount to $1,345,000, eliminating the $307,000 for the athletic facilities.

The Senate approved $1,595,000 for West Point, including $250,000 for the tennis courts and athletic fields.

The conferees split the difference at $200,000. An aide said tennis courts — he didn't say how many — will be built with the money.

Most of the remaining money will be used to modernize utilities at the government-owned Thayer Hotel at West Point.

Loan for Ramapo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced Tuesday approval of a $186,468 interest-free loan to the Town of Ramapo, Rockland County, N.Y.

The money will be used to finance final planning of sewer facilities expected to cost about $5,575,000.

On Shultis Property

The six-troop roundup was held on the property of Nelson Shultis, owner of the Wittenberg Lumber Co. on the weekend of Sept. 7, 8, 9. The competition consisted of the following events: signalling, knots and lashing, nature, first aid, compass, knife and axe, fire building by flint and steel, and physical fitness. A major portion of the final score was derived from the continuous campsite inspections.

Saturday's highlight was the evening campfire in which all troops participated to the enjoyment of many parents and visitors. At Sunday's closing ceremony all troops were awarded branding irons with their troop numbers. All future as well as present winners will brand their number on the prize trophy.

The commissioner's staff noted the fine display of scouting skills and spirit, as well as the closeness of the competitive scores with much favorable comment.

Names In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arthur N. Field, New York lawyer, has been named a special guardian for Marilyn Monroe's mother, to protect her interests as a beneficiary of the late actress' will.

The mother, Mrs. Gladys Baker Eley, has been in a California nursing home for many years. Miss Monroe's will set up a $100,000 trust fund for her.

Field will have the right to inquire into the validity of the will, which disposed of an estate listed in the probate file at $1 million. New York state law holds that if the will is found invalid for any reason, the entire estate would go to the mother, since Miss Monroe died childless.

"Albecaro", for Albert and Caroline, will be the name of the yacht to be built in the Netherlands for Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco. The name of the 120-foot yacht will be an abbreviation of the names of the couple's two children.

President De Gaulle told his cabinet in Paris he favors a referendum to let the French people decide if they want to elect their president by universal suffrage or continue with the electoral college system. Worry about succession has increased since De Gaulle's recent narrow escapes from assassination.

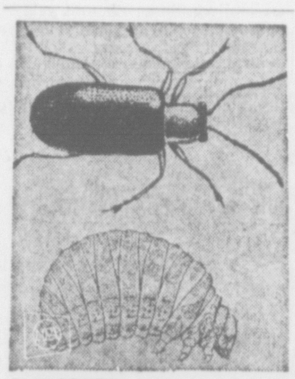
Milton Complaint To USDA Means Loss of License

The U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today that A. D. Dino of Providence, R. I., has failed to pay a reparation award issued under the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act. Consequently, his PACA license was suspended at the close of business on September 6.

J. J. Kaley of Milton, N. Y., complained to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service that Dino had failed to pay $206 for a load of apples purchased in interstate commerce. Dino failed to answer the complaint, and USDA ordered payment of the full amount, plus interest, through default proceedings.

A. D. Dino cannot engage in business subject to the Act until the reparation is satisfied and the license suspension is lifted.

The Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act establishes a code of good business conduct for the produce industry. As a means of enforcing that code it requires that interstate traders in fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables be licensed. The law authorizes USDA to suspend or revoke a trader's license for violating the act.



IDENTIFIED—Cereal leaf beetle that attacks all cereals and some grasses was identified in the United States for the first time this year by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The insect, which has done damage in Europe for many years, has been found in parts of Michigan and Indiana. Its favorite crops are oats, barley and wheat. One-quarter inch adult is shown above; larva below.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices were at a virtual standstill early this afternoon with small gains equaling small declines. Volume was a bit higher than Wednesday but still light.

Comparatively few changes amounted to as much as a full point among key issues. Even most of the usually volatile growth issues showed nothing more than fractional changes.

The list was irregular at the opening and was stalled just about dead center all morning, temporarily halting a two-day advance that carried the popular market averages to their highest level of the month.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .1 at 223.7 with industrials ahead .2, rails up .1 and utilities off .2.

Prime economic and business news remained slim and investor interest in the market showed no improvement.

The Commerce Department reported cash dividends paid last month by corporations which issue public reports were 6 per cent above August a year ago. This lifted eight-month payments 7 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1961 period.

Aircraft and utility issues were a shade higher. Steels, motors, metals and electronics fell a bit. Chemicals, rails and oils were thoroughly irregular.

Driver Loses His License, 2 Booked On Heavy Loads

A man charged with driving while intoxicated last month pleaded guilty to a lesser charge and was sentenced today by City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman, and two truck drivers booked on charges dealing with the overloading of vehicles drew adjournments.

William C. Pratt, 23, of Stone Ridge, was fined $75 after pleading guilty to an impaired ability charge and his license was ordered suspended for 120 days. He was fined $10 on the charge that he had failed to keep right and one of speeding was dismissed. Police said he was booked on the charges after the car he drove struck a pole on Lucas Avenue. Attorney S. James Matthews appeared for him.

Hearing of a charge dealing with the overloading of a truck against Michael Evans, 38, of 57 East Strand, was put over to Friday. He is charged with having driven a trailer truck with excessive weight over a single axle.

Adjourned to Sept. 17 was hearing on a like charge against Donald S. Eaton Jr., 24, of 15 Shufeldt Street, who allegedly drove an excessive load of crushed stone over "consecutive axles."

Both adjournments were to permit time to obtain counsel.

Elsie Lessard, 52, of 138 East Market Street, Rhinebeck, charged with a flashing red light violation, was fined $5.

Seize Poison Beans

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Beans seized here by police Sunday carry a deadly poison, the city health commissioner reports.

Tests by the State Health Department Laboratory confirmed that the beans, used for necklaces and other jewelry pieces, contain poison, Dr. Malcolm A. Bouton said Wednesday.

The beans are fatal only if they are chewed, Bouton said. He noted that they would be "highly dangerous" to children who have a tendency to chew on necklaces and ornaments.

Pressing Load Is Blamed for Air Crash Sept. 4th

WASHINGTON (AP)—A downward pressing load ripped the right wing off the company airplane that crashed near Ravenna, Ohio, Sept. 4, killing 13 occupants, the Civil Aeronautics Board disclosed today.

Because of this finding by CAB Investigators, the probe of the accident now has centered on the plane's control system.

Detailed studies are under way as to the functioning of the plane's flaps, ailerons, trim tabs and other movable wing parts.

The right wing of the twin-engine Lodestar of the Ashland Oil Co. was found about 1,600 feet from the main wreckage and was proof, the CAB said, that it had become detached in flight.

The plane was en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to its home base at Ashland, Ky., when it crashed, exploded and burned in northeastern Ohio.

Investigators determined that the wing broke away at the point at which it was attached to the center section of the plane, and that it was broken off by a downward-pressing load.

A plane's wings primarily are lifting surfaces, and the main stress on them is designed to be upward, against the weight of the craft.

Suspect Body

truck, Chief of Police Abe Rand of the Ellenville police was notified and Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson called.

On the body were found two letters addressed to Richard Cadle at two different Ellenville addresses. Through these letters the authorities contacted Mrs. C. L. Price who gave a description of her brother. She described him as being blond, blue eyes, a scar on his shoulder and she said he had suffered a broken hip about four years ago.

When the body was found both shoes were removed and had been placed beside the man. Authorities believe he may have died while sleeping in the truck.

The body was taken to the Ulster County morgue in Kingston and an autopsy ordered by Coroner Chipp.

No New Cases Noted

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Pinellas County has gone one day without any new cases of suspected encephalitis being reported.

Health Department officials viewed the development with guarded optimism. Some said they hoped this marked the beginning of the decline of the outbreak in this Florida West Coast resort area.

Women Ill From Food

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — More than a score of women golfers were stricken by apparent food poisoning Wednesday during a tournament in Forsyth.

Although the women were nauseated and vomiting, none was in critical condition, doctors said.

Hospital officials said laboratory tests will be made today to determine what caused the illness.

USES OF THE LAND—Varied climate and geography give each section of the United States a different role in the nation's economy. Newsmap above, based on information from the Department of Agriculture, shows the major uses of land as compared with the total land area in regions. In the East, South, Lake states and Northwest, forestland predominates. In the Midwest and Northern Plains, it is cropland, and in the Southern Plains and Mountain states, pastures and grazing land. Total number of acres of land in the 50 states is 2.271 billion. Of this 20 per cent is cultivated cropland, 28 per cent grassland pasture and range and 34 per cent forest. The rest is devoted to other uses.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Investment Adviser and Analyst

Boy 15, Urged to Eschew 'Hot Tips' in the Market

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "As a 15-year-old student I have developed an interest in stocks and have accumulated $500 which I would like to invest. While gathering "hot tips," I have received these suggestions Arizona Public Service, Brunswick, Lionel, J. I. Case. Which is the best investment for capital growth?" D. W.

A) I should like first to commend you for your forethought and your acumen, both rather uncommon attributes in boys of your age. If you will follow me, I should also like to advise you to forget all about "hot tips."

Successful investing is a matter of knowledge, judgment and timing.

Hot tips usually provide simply a short cut to going broke. Of the stocks you mention, only Brunswick and Arizona Public Service merit serious consideration. Brunswick is a speculation in the ability of management to make up for falling bowling revenues.

I think your best and safest choice is Arizona Public Service, a fast-growth utility which appears to be reasonably priced.

Q) "Will you please give us more information on the U. S. Treasury bonds you mentioned last month: what they yield, what advantages, if any, over Series H Savings Bonds, and where to buy them." M.G., R.B.

A) I think you are referring to Treasury 4's of 1971, selling recently at 100 20/32 — which means $1,006.25 per $1,000 bond. They bear semi-annual coupons worth $20 which can be cashed in any bank.

The yield to maturity is 3.92 per cent compared with 3¾ per cent on Series H Bonds. Their advantage over the latter lies mainly in the fact that they are more quickly negotiable and also that they yield substantially more during the first two years of holding.

Series H Bonds pay $8 after 6 months, $14.50 after 1 year, $16 after 1½ years, and thereafter the same interest semi-annually as you would receive on the Treasury 4's.

The latter are bought and sold by most banks and all major investment dealers.

100 Who Fled Cuba Returning

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—One hundred homesick Cubans are heading back to the Caribbean after fleeing nine months ago to Spain to get away from Prime Minister Fidel Castro's rule.

They took off from Dublin today on a charter flight for New York. A charter flight had borne them here from Madrid.

One of the Cubans explained through an interpreter:

"We are ordinary working people and we did not leave Cuba for any political reason. It was just that living there was not enjoyable any more, but now we want to go back to our own people.

"We cannot go straight to Cuba. We have to go to New York where we will contact other Cubans to find out what conditions are like in our own country."

State Delays Bid Opening, Blames Lag in Congress

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department, blaming congressional delay, today postponed from Sept. 27 to Oct. 11 the opening of bids on highway contracts totaling a record $68 million.

Public Works Supt. J. Burch McMorran said the Sept. 27 date had been set with the expectation Congress would have approved the 1962 Federal Aid Highway Act by then.

But, McMorran said, the legislation is pending and the department has no alternative but to postponed the bid opening.

He said he expected that federal funds to pay for 50 to 90 per cent of the 25 highway projects involved would be available by the later date.

Invitations Without R.S.V.P.

Q: Recently we were invited to the wedding and reception of my husband's cousin: The invitation did not include a request for a reply so we did not send one. When we arrived at the reception we found that we were not included on the guest list and at the last minute the tables had to be rearranged to make room for my husband and me.

I was very much put out over this as we had traveled quite a distance to attend the wedding. The bride's mother told me that I should have let her know we were coming to the wedding and not having heard from us she took it for granted that we were not coming. Will you please tell me who is at fault in this instance?

A: The bride's mother was at fault for not putting R.S.V.P. on the invitations if she expected them to be answered.

Looking Up Acquaintances

Q: Very soon I willl be traveling to another state. There are people living there who are friends of mine. I met them once while they were visiting here. Would it be proper for me to look them up and go see them while I am there?

A: Having met these people only once, it would not be advisable for you to look them up. If you had seen them several times and got to know them, or if they had been very friendly and suggested that they would like to see you again, that of course would be different.

Q: When dining in the house of friends on a very hot night, is it proper for a man to ask permission of the hostess to remove his jacket?

A: No, he must wear his jacket unless his hostess herself suggests that he take it off.

The clothes of the bride and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception." Hodgkinson of Bard College made the keynote address to the assembled students following a welcoming by C. B. Schmidt, chairman of the Community College Board of Trustees. Dr. James F. Hall, college president, also spoke.

Dean Robert McKinney introduced faculty members to the group; John Orcutt, director of student activities, outlined extra-curricular plans for the year; and John Rabidou, president of the student association, brought greetings to the newcomers from the association.

Following the talks, 16 small groups of faculty members and students discussed such matters as the role of a community college; academic and social activities, student government, student publications, physical education and health programs, financial aid, and counseling.

The college will hold eight of these orientation periods during the first semester, according to Dean of Students William Ardiff, in order to aid students as much as possible in the transition from secondary school to a system of higher education.

New Deal at UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's registration week at the University of California at Los Angeles. So it wasn't surprising when 400 coeds checked in at a campus table where a sign proclaimed: "Frosh Women Register Here."

The table was manned by two 19-year-old students, Steven Chodos and Fred Fryden.

Each of the coeds was asked to sign her name, address and telephone number.

The table and the young men had nothing to do with registration. It was just their way of getting some female phone numbers.

Evening Russian Course Is Offered By Vassar College

The Evening Russian Program at Vassar College, initiated two years ago, will resume this month for the 1962-63 academic year, with Mrs. Helen Walker as Evening Program Director. While the course is designed primarily for those who plan to teach Russian, it is also open to the public.

An orinetation meeting will be held on Monday, Sept. 17, at 7:30 p. m. in Chicago Hall for all area persons interested in enrollment. No application need be made in advance of this meeting. Classes will begin on September 24.

The Vassar Evening Russian program satisfies requirements for students desiring degree credit, as well as New York State requirements for prospective teachers of Russian. The state will pay the tuition of any public or private elementary or secondary school teacher who is eligible to take the program. For the current year the State Department of Education has made available approximately 44 scholarships.

Both elementary and intermediate Russian will be offered. Each course gives six points of academic credit transferable to other institutions.

The day and hours of class meetings will be determined at the September 17 orientation meeting, at the convenience of the majority of students. Application for enrollment may be made at that time.

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — Tommy, a white Angora cat, has a mind of his own.

He ran up a tree at his home to escape a dog. He refused all appeals to come down and spent all night and part of the next day in the tree.

His owners finally called the fire department for help.

"The minute we started to raise the ladder the cat backed right down the tree," said a fireman.

Planning Board Hears Speaker

The Saugerties Village Planning Board met Tuesday evening, with Dr. Richard Messina, president. He introduced the guest speaker, Joseph K. Murphy of New York City who represented the firm of Brown and Anthony, a group of city planners and landscape architects. They are at present working in several of neighboring towns.

Mr. Murphy said all community planning started with the Housing Act of 1949, and since then much progress has been made to improve conditions in old areas, where towns "just grow," with narrow streets, now involved in traffic problems; no parking lots in shopping districts; inadequate water and sewer systems. Many lack recreation facilities and adequate schools. His firm will make an analysis of all these, even to recommend new school locations that can save the community financially in school bus transportation. They map the whole area, town and village, and suggest proper zoning and improvements. He said Saugerties seemed fortunate in many of these respects but the future must always be considered, and the Hudson Valley is due to expand greatly in population and industry.

He suggested the Village of Saugerties join with the Town of Saugerties in any program as this would cut the costs and also permit federal and state aid.

Mayor George P. Holmes and several members of the village board attended as well as other guests from the area.

OES Schedules Anniversary Fete

Plans are being made for the observance of the 50th anniversary of the Emmanuel Chapter, 517, Order of the Eastern Star, Oct. 23, it was announced at the Tuesday night meeting of the local chapter. A dinner will be served in the Reformed Church followed by a sesqui-centennial program.

The meeting was opened by Worthy Patron Willett Overbaugh and turned over to Worthy Matron Dora Aplustill who presided at the business meeting.

It was announced that Worthy Sister Florence Campbell will become the new district deputy at the time of the Grand Chapter meeting.

An invitation to the dedication service at the new Coxsackie lodge Sept. 29 was extended.

Blanche Ziegler, a 50-year member was present at the meeting. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Hudson River History Told

Due to inclement weather the first meeting of the season of the Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held in the Saugerties Methodist Church Wednesday evening. It originally was scheduled to be held at the summer camp of Mrs. John Nolan, Lighthouse Drive.

Members and guests heard Karl Wede, author, authority on marine subjects and consultant to many museums, give a talk on Sailing Ships on the Hudson River. Mr. Wede traced Hudson River navigation from Verrazano, Italian navigator, commissioned by Francis I, King of France, in 1524 and Hendrick Hudson, British navigator, engaged by the Dutch in 1607, both to search for a North East passage, down to the present time.

Replicas of some of the ships sailing the Hudson, authentically fashioned by Mr. Wede were displayed. Among them were the Constitution, known as Old Ironsides, built in 1797 and now in Boston, a sloop, a whaler, a clipper ship and a schooner. Mr. Wede had a window display of ships in Saugerties during the recent Hudson-Champlain Celebration.

Following the evening's program the chapter held a business session at which current plans were discussed. The chapter asks that all residents of the area display the American Flag during Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, and it is especially urged that all merchants help to make the week memorable by prominently displaying the flag.

Mayor George P. Holmes has issued a proclamation for observance of Constitution Week marking the 175th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States of America by the Constitutional Convention.

Sports Arenas Mecca of Stars In Movie City

By DORIS KLEIN

HOLLYWOOOD (AP)—You don't have to spend $3.50 for a Hollywood bus tour ticket to find a motion picture star.

With so many of the studios making movies overseas, it's difficult to see stars at work. And if you look around the famed landmarks of Hollywood and Vine and the Sunset Strip, you'll have to look hard and long to find a familiar face.

So next time you're in town, throw away that map of movie stars' homes and try this for a guide: go out for sports.

All Have Followers

Chavez Ravine — the baseball park—has become the biggest gathering place for celebrities since the heyday of the big fights at Hollywood Legion Stadium. On a good night, watching the Los Angeles Dodgers or the Angels, you'll find Doris Day, Milton Berle, Dinah Shore or Danny Thomas.

During football season, try Memorial Coliseum. Jane Russell frequently roots from the sidelines for the Los Angeles Rams. Her husband is Ram Coach Bob Waterfield.

If there's a pro-celebrity golf tournament around town, you're likely to find Bob Hope, George Gobel, Fred MacMurray, Gordon MacRae, Robert Sterling, Jerry Lewis, or James Garner.

When there's a good boxing match, Hugh O'Brian, Jose Ferrer or Jack Lemmon may be at ringside.

With Ciro's now a twist club and the old Macombo leveled to make way for a new Playboy club, it's not often you'll spot a big-name actor along the Sunset Strip—except for Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin. Each owns a restaurant on the strip.

Other Possibilities

If you're a member of the fashion-conscious female sex and desire to have George Masters do your hair at Saks Fifth Avenue, you're likely to run into Polly Bergen, Dinah Shore or Jennifer Jones.

If you want to get out of the city, there's always Palm Springs.

Mexico is becoming increasingly popular. Dana Wynter and Greg Bautzer winter at the Hotel Pierre Marquez in Acapulco. Brett Halsey sometimes has Debbie Power Loew as his guest in Puerto Vallarta. Bing Crosby has a hideaway in Baja California.

And there's always the beach at Santa Monica. Peter Lawford drew a crowd the other day when his brother-in-law dropped by.

$50,000 Fines Possible

NEW YORK (AP)—Three steel companies and two executives asked permission in federal court Wednesday to plead no contest next Monday to an anti-trust indictment charging a conspiracy to fix prices in the sale of open die steel forgings.

If the court accepts the pleas it can fine the companies up to $50,000 each. The individuals would be liable to a similar fine and up to one year each in prison.

The three companies are U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co., and the Erie Forge and Steel Corp., Erie, Pa.

Car Wash Scheduled Saturday at W. Camp

A car wash will be conducted by the Luther League of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church, West Camp on Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. at the church parking area on Route 9W.

According to Mary Lou Knaust, league president, the group will provide a wet wash at a reasonable price. The proceeds will be used for Luther League activities.

Leadership Discussed At Kingston Rotary

A profound message on the subject of leadership, its application, meaning and efficaciousness today and down through history was brought to the Kingston Rotary Club at its luncheon-meeting Wednesday by Jerome Stewart, associate director of St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, and a member of the Rotary Club of that city.

Preceding the thought-provoking discourse by the guest speaker, Attorney Frederick Stang described the new facilities at the Kingston YMCA and outlined the current physical fitness program and the activities of the Health Club. An invitation was extended the Rotarians to visit the local YMCA.

Clement Angstrom reported on this year's chicken barbecue, which raised $1,391.

Warning on Drugs

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania families were urged again today by the State Health Department to destroy all unmarked drugs they may find in their medicine cabinets.

There is a "very remote" chance that some of the unmarked drugs may contain dangerous thalidomide, warned State Health Secretary Charles L. Wilbar.

Thalidomide has been blamed by medical men for causing deformities among new born babies in Europe. It was dispensed by one of 132 doctors in Pennsylvania who received the drug for investigational use, Wilbar said.

Tom Cheney in A L Spotlight; Dodgers Gain Game on Giants

Senator Hurler Fans 21 Batters In 16 Innings

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Presss Sports Writer

As the American League pennant scramble reachs it climax, the least likely team you'd expect to hear from is Washington, but 21 strikeouts by the Senators' Tom Cheney has grabbed the spotlight from the contenders.

Cheney, 27, a right-hander who has labored sporadically and unspectacularly in five previous major league campaigns, sent up his salute Wednesday night, striking out 21 batters in 16 innings for a major league one-game record en route to a 2-1 victory over Baltimore.

Meanwhile, it began to look like taps-blowing time for New York's pursuers in the pennant race. The Yankees ballooned their bulge as Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer and powered the defending world champions to a 5-2 decision over Cleveland.

The second place Los Angeles Angels lost to Kansas City 4-1 and fell five games back while third-place Minnesota bowed to the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 12 innings and dropped 5½ lengths off the pace.

That left the Yanks' magic pennant-clinching number at 10. Any combination of 10 New York victories and-or Los Angeles defeats will give the Yankees their 12th pennant in 14 years.

In the other AL games Wednesday, Boston swept a doubleheader from Detroit 8-6 and 6-2.

Mantle's homer off Pedro Ramos put the Yankees ahead 4-2 in the fifth inning after the Indians had moved out front on Chuck Essegian's two-run homer in the fourth.

The A's rode a four-hitter by Orlando Pena (4-3) to their victory over the Angels. Los Angeles lone run coming when Lee Thomas homered in the ninth inning. Kansas City tagged almost-teammate Bo Belinsky (9-10) with the loss.

Sherm Lollar stroked a two-out single in the 12th, scoring Al Smith with the winning run for the White Sox as they handed the Twins their fourth consecutive setback.

Rocky Colavito hit homers Nos. 34 and 35 and Norm Cash tagged his 35th for the Tigers in the opener, but the Red Sox won it for Dick Radatz (9-5) on Ed Bressoud's three-run homer in the ninth. A three-run homer by Frank Malzone provided the Red Sox with the nightcap triumph.

Howard's Homer Tops Colts, 1-0; Giants Beaten

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their game.

The San Francisco Giants lost their game—and Willie Mays.

The Cincinnati Reds won their game—but lost Joey Jay.

That combination may provide the Dodgers the opening for a breakthrough in the tension-filled National League race.

A home run by Frank Howard and the tight relief pitching of unbeaten Ed Roebuck and Ron Perranoski lifted the Dodgers to a 1-0 victory over Houston Wednesday night and into a 1½ game lead over runner-up San Francisco. The Giants were 4-1 losers to the third-place Reds, still 5½ behind, as Frank Robinson powered the way for the winners with two homers.

Mays and Jay were casualties at Cincinnati, and any extended layoff by either star performer could doom the title chances of his club.

Mays, the majors' top home run hitter with 43 and the Giants' leader in their pennant drive, collapsed of what was described as an attack of indigestion in the third inning. The brilliant center fielder was unconscious when he was carried off the field, but revived before being taken to the hospital.

Jay, a 21-game winning right-hander, was sent to the hospital a short time later after a batted ball struck the index finger of his pitching

In the only other NL game, Denver Lemaster threw a six-hitter as Milwaukee trounced Philadelphia 9-0.

Just Three Hits

The Dodgers managed three hits off Ken Johnson and Don McMahon, but the big one by Howard was enough for the Pete Richert - Roebuck - Perranoski combine. Richert held off the Colts through three innings, but in the fourth he gave up a single to Roman Mejias and a bunt hit to Carl Warwick with none out. Roebuck then made his 53rd trip to the mound this season, and after a sacrifice and an intentional walk, Hal Smith hit into a double play.

Another double play smoothed things for Roebuck in the seventh and the right-handed relief star had to get through another jam in the eighth. In the ninth, after a one-out walk to Smith, Perranoski entered the act and rang down the curtain, saving Roebuck's 10th straight victory.

Johnson put down the first 13 Dodgers in order before Howard's 27th homer in the fifth.

San Francisco's left-hander Billy Pierce got roughed up in the first inning at Cincinnati. Eddie Kasko opened with a single and two outs later, Robinson and Wally Post homered in succession. Robinson socked No. 38 in the sixth, also off Pierce. The two hits in four tries boosted Robinson into the league batting lead at .340.

Jay held the Giants without a hit until the fourth inning, but ran into misfortune in the fifth. Jose Pagan singled and Chuck Hiller's sharp hit to the mound rapped Jay on the hand, forcing him out of the game and into the hospital.

San Francisco manager Alvin Dark announced in the fifth inning that he was playing the game under protest after charging Jay with using an improper pitching motion.

The Braves supported Lemaster's shutout pitching with a 14-hit attack.

Reds Top Giants But Jay Is Hurt

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, 5½ games down in the stretch drive National League pennant race, kept alive their chances with a 4-1 victory over the second-place San Francisco Giants Wednesday night.

But their joy over the win was dampened by an injury to the pitching hand of Cincinnati's ace right-hander, Joey Jay.

Jay was sent to a hospital for Xrays after he injured his index finger while trying to handle Chuck Hiller's infield single. However, the doctor said he thought the finger was only bruised.

WILL DEFEND TITLE—Ready to defend their Hudson Valley Bridge championship over the weekend at the Gov. Clinton Hotel are, left to right, Harry Thayer, C. Paul Jensen, Chris Wheatcroft and I. H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft. They will be among several bridge teams in the area taking part in the ninth annual valley championships.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

ALLIE SHERMAN of the football New York Giants is perturbed because of the west coast stories, supposedly traced to this department, of a feud with Harland Svare, his former defensive coach now with the Los Angeles Rams ... "There was no chance for a feud," fumed Sherman. "I told him he was out ... that was that."

Guy asked New York Yankee skipper Ralph Houk if he was lecturing his slumping athletes. ... "This time of year," answered the major, "it's not necessary. You see $9-10,000 lying on the floor over there, you don't need pep talks." ...

* * *

Yankee ace Ralph Terry actually signed his first major league baseball contract with the St. Louis Cardinals. ... The Cards and Yanks were strong after the right-hander, but the New York scout, Tom Grenwade (who signed Mickey Mantle) got there first ... he didn't have a major league contract with him, so told Terry to send a telegram, with his mother's permission, saying he wanted to sign with the Yanks ... the morning the wire was sent, Cardinal scouts and Ferrell Anderson, a minor league manager, arrived, convinced him he'd be lost in the Yankee system, that he hadn't really signed anyhow and got his name on a Cardinal contract. ... New York appealed to Commissioner Ford Frick. ...

Ralph Terry

The sequel: when Frick handed Terry his World Series ring at ceremonies last spring, he smiled, "You know, half of this really belongs to me."

* * *

A course in philosophy by Bo Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels: "In baseball, the employee always gets the short end of the lollipop. ... The way they treated my story for a day and a half, it was like World War II. ... How do I feel about not going to Kansas City? It was tough luck for (Owner Charles) Finley. I could have helped him." ...

One man not in Belinsky's corner is Angel publicist Irv Kaze ... who doesn't care who knows it. ... "He's got a different story on the same thing for everybody," says Kaze.

* * *

Jack Kramer, watching Rod Laver of Australia complete the first tennis grand slam since Don Budge, compared his equipment with another Aussie, Lew Hoad. ... "Maybe mentally," said Kramer, "his game is a little sharper ...but I think Lew, even as an amateur, was the better player. ... Going from amateur to pro now is like going from college football to the pros." ...

Rafael Osuna, the little Mexican who met Laver in the United States semi-finals, complained, "I couldn't see the ball half the time ... it went by me so fast." ...

To join the New York Titans (with a phenomenal debut), Lee Grosscup passed up a two-year no-cut contract at more money by quarterback-desperate Toronto of the Canadian League ... because the slim rifleman is making his home in New York. ... Probably the biggest factor in his cut by the Minneapolis Vikings was the fact that Grosscup's salary was higher than that of reigning quarterback Francis Tarkenton ... also front office antipathy—Coach Norm Van Brocklin told Grosscup it wasn't his decision.

An unnamed Philadelphia Eagle says that Frank Budd's only trouble as a receiver is that the world's fastest human "catches the ball like a sissy."... he can still spot some of their receivers 10 yards in a 40-yard wind sprint. ...

Between you-n'me, this is how Sonny Liston said he feels about facing Floyd Patterson in the ring: "When I see him, I figure he's got a gun in his hand."

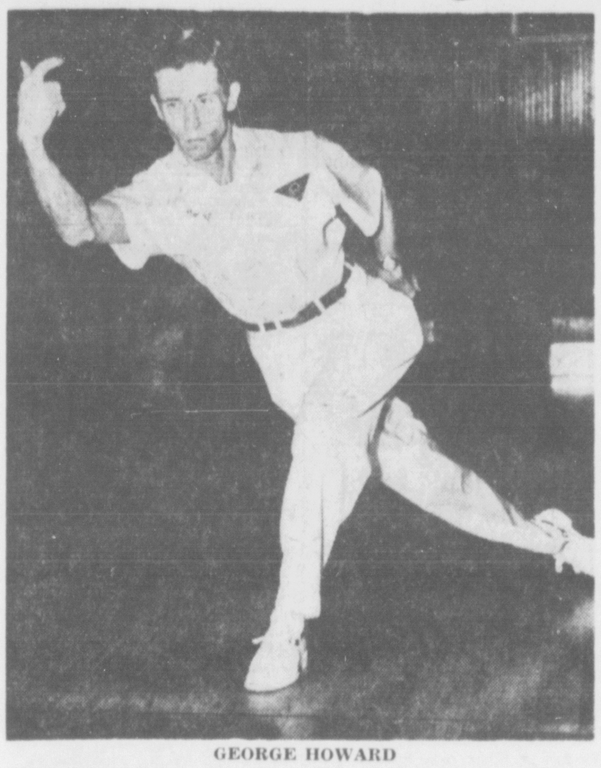
At Bowlerama Saturday

George Howard Is Impressive As Outstanding Bowling Star



GEORGE HOWARD

George Howard, one of the bright new names in the nation's tenpin elite brings a host of impressive credentials to his exhibition with Pat Patterson Saturday afternoon and night at Ferraro' Bowlerama.

The 32-year-old Detroiter has won a flock of individual titles, has rolled four ABC sanctioned 300 games and five unsanctioned 300 games. His highest sanctioned triple is 778, the highest unsanctioned set, 848.

This bowling lightweight—5 feet 8, 112 pounds—has made his name known through tournament play as a member of Stroh's Beer team and as a money winner on television shows such as Phillie's Jackpot Bowling, where he won $10,000.

A 216 Average

Howard completed the 1961-62 season with a 216 average as a member of the Detroit Thunderbirds, champions of the new National Bowling League. He uses a semi-roller with a short hook. In rolling his fingertip ball, he employs a four and one-half step delivery.

The Detroit ace started moving up the bowling ladder in 1958 when he finished third (with Al Savas) in the BPAA National Doubles. A year later he scored a double triumph, winning the Detroit City and Michigan State doubles with Billy Golombiewski. He was Detroit City all-events champion with a whopping 2069 in 1958.

In 1961, Howard was a finalist in the World Invitational at Chicago and captured the Las Vegas Open. During the past season he rolled a 2004 nine-game set for the Michigan State all-events crown. A couple weeks ago he was first in the Niagara Falls Open on the PBA trail.

Howard and Patterson will make a Saturday afternoon appearance at the Bowlerama, then roll a series of exhibition matches Saturday night starting at 8:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Eagle Coach Getting Set For 1st Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The phone rang twice before Mrs. Nick Skorich answered shortly before midnight.

"Is Coach Skorich in?" the caller asked. "If he's sleeping don't bother him."

"No," said Mrs. Skorich. "He's working."

And so it goes with Nick Skorich, in his second year as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, working into the late hours of the night preparing for the National Football League opener here Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I was looking at some Cardinals' films," explained Skorich, "studying their defensive team. They've got a real strong defensive team. They're a pretty hard club for everyone to score on."

Skorich pointed out that the Eagles have a film exchange with the Cardinals and the films he was studying were from last year's regular season games. He had previously studied films of the Cardinals' exhibition games this year.

The Cardinals will be making their 1962 debut under a new coach, Wally Lemm.

Skorich said his offensive backfield would line up with Sonny Jurgensen at quarterback, Tim Brown and Tommy McDonald at halfbacks and Clarence Peaks at fullback.

Parker's Pop Ups New Hercules Champions

With John Ross slamming two home runs, Parker's Pop Ups slaughtered Bad John's Boys, 18-6, in an intra-plant softball game among Hercules employes.

The victory gave the Pop Ups a claim on the 1962 plant championship. Lou Pulcastro pitched for the winners and John Betkowski was on the mound for the losers.

A. C.'s Viking Favored in Trot

Hambletonian - winner A. C.'s Viking, an early 8-5 favorite, will start from the fourth position in the $89,469 Dexter Cup Saturday at Roosevelt Raceway.

Sprite Rodney, the only filly entered, drew post seven, and Safe Mission, post two. Both have been rated as co-second choices at 4-1 odds.

The big money races highlighted the Roosevelt card Wednesday night.

Australian pacer James Scott rallied in the stretch to capture the $10,000 Friars and Lambs Club Free-For-All. He paid a hefty $31.-70.

Riverboat from Hicksville, N. Y., pulled out of second in the stretch to win the $10,500 New York State Sire Stakes Trot for three-year-olds.

The chestnut filly collected the winner's share of $5,250 in the non-betting event.

Cheney's Mark Breaks Record Set in 1884

By GORDON BEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tom Cheney often doesn't finish what he starts. But when he does, its spectacular.

Wednesday night was one of those occasions. The 27-year-old right-hander of the Washington Senators set a major league record by striking out 21 batters in a 16-inning, 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

It was Cheney's fourth complete game of the season. In his earlier route - going performances he hurled shutouts.

At the end of the exhausting 3 hour, 59 minute game, in which he made 228 pitches, Cheney had cracked a record which stood for 78 years.

Charles Sweeney of Providence in the National League and Hugh Dailey of Chicago in the Union Association each struck out 19 batters in 9-inning games in 1884.

Since 1906, four different pitchers had fanned 18 in a game—Jack Coombs, Bob Feller, Warren Spahn and Sandy Koufax. Coombs and Koufax each reached the mark twice.

Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander, was the last to tie the previous modern record. He struck out 18 in nine innings on April 24.

Cheney struck out the side in the third and fifth innings and at the end of the regulation nine innings had recorded 13 strikeouts. Russ Snyder, Jim Gentile, Dave Nicholson, Marv Breeding and Dick Hall whiffed three times apiece.

When Cheney struck out Hall to end the 14th inning, it was strikeout No. 19 and a new modern record. He was given the ball as a memento and also a standing ovation from the crowd of 4,098.

Syracuse Coach Shuffles Squad

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Five Syracuse players have been shuffled into the second team line as the Orange readied for its season opener at Oklahoma Sept. 22.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder Wednesday shifted Paul Houle, a 220-pound sophomore from Manchester, N.H., to the second squad's outside tackle post from reserve center in the key move.

John Paglio of South Euclid, Ohio, starts at outside tackle in Syracuse's unbalanced line.

Other second team changes were:

Pearson Shoots Ace At Red Hook Course

Frank Pearson shot the fifth hole-in-one this year at the Red Hook Golf Course when he aced the second hole which is 105 yards long. He was playing with Pat Pearson and Margaret and Ed Osterhoudt.

Gatherings Get Noisy Waiting For Wall Ghost

Recent reports on the downtown appearance of a genie or sylph (or could it be Mr. Pussyfoot Wall Ball) who is said to be wall-defying and enshrouded in smoke, had their repercussions on Ravine Street Wednesday night.

A 1:20 a. m. police blotter note yesterday told of a report from the street claiming that a man was coming through a wall in a cloud of smoke, and when officers Raymond Wells and Ira Hadsel investigated, they were told that others, who had lived in the house, recounted recurrences of the performance "every Wednesday night shortly after midnight."

As early as 7:10 p. m. last night, police were notified that youngsters were causing a disturbance in the block between Spring and Spruce Streets. Again at 9 p. m., a notice said "a large group of people in the area were awaiting the arrival of the ghost" and some were running over a new porch in the neighborhood. Those gathered in the block were dispersed by Officer Edward Ortlieb after each call.

At 12:34 a. m. today police were notified of a gathering of teenagers, who were "becoming rather noisy" as they sat on curbs and were "getting impatient awaiting the ghost's arrival through the walls." They were routed, said the report, by officers Garvin Fisher and George Deyo.

Shokan

SHOKAN—Ward and Charlotte Koons, Astoria, L. I. couple who have a summer home in Silver Hollow, near Chichester, were Shokan callers Saturday. Their property is the one-time Buhrer homestead.

Anthony Kelly who was an employe of the Ashokan Reservoir department many years ago, was in town Sunday. He formerly made his home in the old Wilson House at Stony Hollow but now resides in Valley Stream, L. I.

Callers at the local museum recently included Kitty Conklin of Union Valley Road, West Milford, N. J.

The Olive Town Board reportedly will advertise for the drilling of a well near the public hall in West Shokan.

Mrs. Bernard Casablanca and son, Vincent, who were at their village center place all summer, have returned to their home in Washington Heights.

The Ashokan Reservoir reportedly was about 31 feet below the normal flowline last weekend. Gilboa, from which water flows into the Ashokan via tunnel and the Esopus Creek, is at a very low stage as is also the city's big reservoir near Shavertown, Delaware County.

Albert North, long time resident of north Route 28A, has been selling off some of his household effects. Harold Lynch, a former resident, has bought the North property.

Birthdays Sept. 16 include that of William Jackson, local telephone company representative who resides at Ashokan. Born at Charleston, S. C., the Korean War veteran is married to Elaine Macaluso. Also having a birthday Sunday is Mrs. Sylvester Wells, the former Ella Constable who resided in Shokan as a girl. Still another natal anniversary this Sunday is that of Chester Lyons Jr., of the Mountain Road who was brought up at Ashokan.

Mrs. Angelo Bruno, a resident of Old Hurley for 20 years, was a caller at the village center antiquarium Tuesday.

Reports Castro Is Jailing Newsmen

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro agents have imprisoned three Western newsmen and are trailing others, a Canadian reporter said upon arriving in the United States.

George Bryant of the Toronto Star said Western newsmen are unable to telephone outside the country due to strict censorship being enforced by the regime.

Bryant said the three correspondents, missing for three days, were jailed, although he did not see them. They are John Blands of Reuters, Paul Casanas of the New York Times and his wife, Sarita Valdes of the National Broadcasting Co.

Gets Formal Notice

PERPIGNAN, France (AP)—A Queens County prosecutor formally told Dr. Harvey Lothringer today that he is charged with abortion in New York.

Queens County Asst. Dist. Atty. Philip J. Chetta confronted the 41-year-old New York physician in court here. Lothringer probably will be taken to nearby Montpellier to await an extradition hearing.

Chetta said the legal formalities would delay Lothringer's return to the United States for at least 10 days, even if he waives extradition.

Fall Kills Brothers

NEW YORK (AP)—Two brothers fell 11 stories to their deaths when a scaffold broke as they painted window frames of a new apartment house Wednesday.

The victims were Ludwig Sigus and his brother, Alfred, both in their 50's.

Nixon Vows Hard, Clean Coast Fight

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Richard Nixon came out slugging in launching his fall campaign for governor.

"In order to win," he said, "you have to fight hard and I'm going to fight hard."

He added, "I'm going to fight clean."

In Militant Mood

Nixon sounded a militant note in kickoff of speeches Wednesday at Pomona, San Diego, Sacramento and Oakland that brought the anti-communism issue to the forefront of the torrid gubernatorial race.

Under Democratic Edmund G. Brown, he said California ranks first in crime, first in spending and first in taxes. He said, Brown has failed to push through a single anti-communism measure.

"When I get to Sacramento, you'll see the biggest housecleaning since the days of Hiram Johnson," the state's Republican reform governor who served from 1911 to 1915, Nixon said.

Takes on All Critics

In his opening swing, Nixon took on all of his leading critics.

He called Brown weak and ineffective and said "It's time the first state has a governor who is not an ignoramus on international affairs."

He offered an advance welcome to any Kennedys, from the President on down, who might come out to campaign for Brown, asserting "We'll lick them all."

He shrugged off criticism by former President Harry S. Truman, saying "Every time Truman gets into a race with me I win."

Report Pylos Refueling

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Soviet and Greek ships carrying Communist supplies to Fidel Castro's Cuba stop to refuel in the southern Greek port of Pylos, the Athens newspaper Ethnos reported today.

The U.S. State Department issued a memorandum last week calling on its North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies to stop chartering ships to carry Soviet supplies to Cuba.
